The R-34 snapped as she nosed down to Roosevelt Flying Field. Letter "A" indicates forward nacelle from which Commander Lansdowne handed peace picture to N. E. A. man.

FIRST NEWS PICTURE TO BE BROUGHT FROM EUROPE BY AIR ROUTE

The pictures printed above are the most remarkable exhibition of newspaper enterprise ever attempted. The treaty of peace was signed in the Hall of Mirrors, at Versailles, Saturday, June 28. The European manager of The Newspaper Enterprise association, H. E. Bechtel, covering this great historical event at Paris for The Sun, planned to get this picture to The Sun and other members of the N.E.A. first. The photograph was placed aboard a British Royal Air Force aeroplane and rushed from Paris to London and by special train to East Fortune, Edinburgh, Scotland, was able to hand the package to Commander Lansdowne, United States navy, who made the trip by invitation of the British air ministry, on board the British dirigible R-34. The big airship, after flying across the Atlantic, landed at Roosevelt Flying Field, Mineola, Long Island, yesterday, Sunday morning, July 6. Commander Lansdowne handed the package to the New York manager of the Newspaper Enterprise association, who had been advised by cable, and the pictures were rushed to New York city by fast automobile, and thence by special delivery mail to The Sun for the benefit of its readers. This extraordinary feat beat by at least two and a half days the fastest Atlantic liners and the United States destroyer speeding across the ocean with this great historical picture.

LOWELL ELKS GO TO ATLANTIC CITY

Daniel Clark, Fred H. Bourke, Fred Gilmore and John Sweet will represent Lowell lodge of Elks at the Grand Lodge session of Elks at Atlantic City, which opens today.

It is the peace and victory convention of the order. Business sessions and election of officers will occupy part of the week, but the most picturesque feature will be a parade on Thursday in which all the thousands of delegates from every part of the country will march, bearing their lodge flags and displaying whatever their ingenuity suggests in the way of unique presentations.

There is a strenuous campaign for the post of grand exalted ruler. Support of the entire New England delegation is claimed by Albert T. Brophy of Brooklyn, independent candidate for the head of the order. His claims are disputed, however, by Frank L. Rain of Nebraska, who is backed by men high in Elk councils. Boston is being sought by Chicago to throw its vote toward having the 1920 convention in Chicago. Los Angeles, New Orleans and Atlantic City also are in the field.

R-34 NEARLY GOT AWAY

From Mooring by Violent Gust of Wind—Saved by 300 Men

Starts Return Trip Tomorrow—To Fly Over Boston and Wilson's Ship

MINEOLA, N. Y., July 7.—Major Scott announced definitely at noon today that the R-34 would start on its return journey at 5 o'clock tomorrow morning, flying over Boston. She will not circle New York before turning east.

Major Scott announced later that an effort would be made to shape the R-34's course so that it would pass over the George Washington, which is bringing President Wilson home.

The R-34 was torn from her mooring rope this morning by a violent gust of wind. The cross girder to which the rope was attached broke under the strain, ripping a hole six feet by three feet in the gas bag. The dirigible was saved from being blown away by 300 men, who seized ropes hanging from her sides, and held her down with great difficulty.

Will Take Southern Course

MINEOLA, N. Y., July 7.—On her return trip to her base in Scotland, the British dirigible R-34 will take the southern course, leaving the United States at some middle Atlantic port and heading directly for Spain.

Local Dealers Not To Sell 2 3/4 Per Cent—Liquor Men Employ Counsel

A difference of opinion between the city solicitor of this city, William D. Regan, and the legal authorities of various other cities in the state as to the legal right of licensing boards to grant to liquor dealers second, third or fifth class licenses and later, upon surrender of these when the wartime prohibition ban is lifted, to grant first and fourth class licenses to the same dealers, has resulted in the Lowell Liquor Dealers' association resorting to counsel outside of Lowell in an effort to determine just what action they may take with comparative safety toward the re-opening of their places of business for the sale of 2 3/4 per cent beer.

According to Anthony A. Conway, president of the Lowell Liquor Dealers' association, the city solicitors of Chicago, Holyoke and Taunton have ruled that second class licenses may be granted now and later surrendered for first class licenses. Mr. Conway also cites the Boston licensing board which has stated that any class of license desired by the dealers in the Hub would be issued and the matter of sales left to the dealers themselves.

The statement that there was a possibility of local dealers selling 2 3/4 per cent beer before the close of the present week is denied both by the Liquor Dealers' association and the local license commission. Before any license

COMMUNITY SING AT BELVIDERE PARK

The first of a series of outdoor community sings to be conducted by the Community Service Singing League, composed of members of eight local organizations and societies of girls and young women, will be held tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock at Belvidere park, Nesmith and Andover streets. Everybody in the city is invited to attend and join in the songs.

A great deal of preparation has been made to make these sings unique and entirely successful. It is community work by and for the community; the girls of the league simply forming the nucleus and furnishing the incentive. A truck loaned by the Massachusetts Corp. will carry the girls from the Funchs building to the park and instrumental music also will be furnished. Boy Scouts today distributed leaflets

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Charges that the president organized the council of national defense before war was declared in absolute violation of law, and thereby created a "secret government of the United States" which formulated war legislation, dictated policies the country was to pursue and befriended "big business," were made today by Chairman Graham of the special house committee investigating war department expenditures.

AUSTRIANS GET TERMS TOMORROW

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS, July 7.—The proposed Austrian peace treaty will be ready for presentation to the Austrian delegation on Tuesday. The full text of the document is now in the hands of the printer.

Ten days or two weeks are expected to be given the Austrian delegation to study the new articles on financial, economic and reparations questions, and also certain boundary terms which were not covered in the first draft given them.

The peace commissioners remaining to carry on the work of the conference took the day off yesterday, many attending the last day of inter-allied games at Pershing Stadium, and the others going to Saint Cloud race track to see the running of the president of the republic stakes.

The council of five will continue today work on the addenda agreed upon. The Hungarian questions, the opening of the Danube and similar matters, will, however, be put over until the military experts report a feasible plan for dealing with the situation in case Bela Kun, the Hungarian communist foreign minister, remains obdurate and refuses to give right of way for relief supplies.

PUBLIC WELFARE IS SUPREME LAW

Ancient Motto of Romans Being Applied by the Italian Government

With Profiteers Punished, Machine Gunners Take Control and Riots End

ROME, Sunday, July 6.—"Salus publica suprema lex" (The public welfare is the supreme law), the ancient motto of the Romans, is being applied by the Italian government at this critical moment of the national life of Italy.

"The government closed one eye, indeed, in some cases both, for so long that the people took the law in their own hands," said a leading Italian statesman today. "They were aiming at giving a harsh, but deserved lesson to profiteers. It was right that the people should punish those who made millions through the suffering of the population which for over four years strained every nerve in the face of the greatest struggle of its history. With pitiless energy, however, as pitiless as its leniency heretofore, the government now intends to repress any attempt to transform a just protest into something more serious."

Florence has been occupied by military forces, and the machine guns of the troops, it has been shown the mobs and robbers, were not taken there merely for show. The same thing has happened at other most rebellious centres, especially at Ancona and Brescia, where many persons were wounded.

Demand Price Reduction

In Genoa, where the uprising against the cost of living took a most orderly form, the people imposed a reduction in all prices, watched the carrying out of this order and prevented any violence against shopkeepers. They intervened whenever attempts were made to ransack shops, putting down the disorderly elements with much greater energy than the police ever used. At Milan the people have presented an ultimatum, demanding that the prices of all necessities be materially reduced by Tuesday.

Shoe Shops Ransacked

A mob ransacked nearly all the shoe shops at Palermo, the troops being called out too late to prevent pillaging. When they appeared they were received with applause, the crowd shouting to the soldiers "no firing, boys, we aren't at the front. Here we are all brothers and all are against the vampires who have starved us."

From all towns where disorders have occurred the same report is coming. A week ago everything could be bought at high prices, but now the shops are closed, roads are lacking and nothing can be found. Entire families in many places are in despair at finding something to eat. Count Olgiati, prefect of Florence, has been removed from office. He was transferred to that city from Milan during the war after he had been unable to prevent a general strike in Milan.

Strike Called Off

FLORENCE, Sunday, July 6.—The strike was declared off at midnight Saturday. All is calm in the city.

To Banish Wrinkles and Freshen Up Quickly

After a strenuous day outdoors, when wind, heat and exhaustion have combined to take away one's freshness and caused the skin to wrinkle and sag—or after a tedious or fretful day indoors—one often has urgent need for some quick rejuvenator. Maybe there's a chance on for the evening, or some other social event. How in the world can one make herself presentable, looking as she does? It's quite easy. Just get an ounce of powdered sassailla and a half pint witch hazel at the nearest drug store, mix the two and rub the face in the solution for two or three minutes. Then look into your mirror and behold the wonderful transformation! Wrinkles have vanished, loose, tired muscles have been rested and "firmed up," marks of fatigue have flown, and you look so much brighter and younger you can hardly believe your eyes. No one need hesitate to try this, the witch hazel and sassailla being so perfectly harmless.—Adv.

Completes Ocean Flight

cloud, with the sun and sea visible only at rare intervals, the vessel was forced to cruise 3690 miles to reach Trinity Bay, N. F., from East Fortune, Scotland, and 1944 miles from there to Mineola.

When she arrived here she had left only enough petrol to keep her moving 90 minutes longer. Her crew, almost sleepless for four and a half days, were weary almost to the point of exhaustion but happy at the successful completion of their trip. The return voyage probably will be started at 8 a. m. Tuesday.

Haggard, unshaven, their eyes bloodshot from the long vigil and lines of care deep in their faces, Maj. G. H. Scott, the commander, and his officers showed plainly the effects of the anxious hours through which they lived yesterday while they were cruising over the far reaches of Canada and the Bay of Fundy, beset by fog, heavy winds and terrific electrical storms.

"It seemed as though the atmosphere was haunted by 5000 devils," said Lt. Guy Harris, the meteorological officer.

With the R-34 long overdue at its destination, with its petrol supply running low and buffeted by strong head winds, Maj. Scott decided Saturday while over the Bay of Fundy to send a wireless call to the American navy department to be prepared to give assistance if it were needed. This was merely a measure of precaution and did not indicate discouragement. While destroyers and submarine chasers were racing to her assistance, the R-34 was plunging steadily ahead on the way to Mineola. Once clear of the Bay of Fundy the atmospheric hoodoo which had beset the craft from the time it took the air was gradually left in its wake.

The R-34 headed southwest out across the Atlantic along the coast of Maine, her nose pointed for Cape Cod, with the United States destroyer Bancroft hanging on her tail and in constant wireless communication with her. The bulldog navy craft stuck close in the wake of the air monster, running under forced draft until Cape Cod was reached, and then the dirigible cut across lots.

Decided to Go to Mineola

It had been decided on the voyage along the coast that unless a favoring wind came up, the R-34 would be forced to land at Montauk Point and early yesterday a wireless message was sent out making that announcement. With the Cape left behind, however, fortune finally favored the balloon and the wind veered in her favor. Headed straight for Montauk Point she ran true and before the tip end of Long Island was reached it was decided to go on to Mineola. With the goal almost in sight, the R-34 flew majestically above the island and headed straight down the centre of it for Roosevelt Field, 100 miles away.

As she cruised over Riverhead, the dirigible came within range of the wireless telephone installed at Roosevelt Field by the navy radio service and perfect communication was established. During the night the wireless calls from the R-34 were received by the navy radio station in New York.

Over the wireless telephone it was explained to Maj. Scott that a large part of the crew assembled to assist him in landing had been sent to Montauk Point in motor trucks in the expectation that he would tie up there and that consequently preparations for receiving him had not quite been completed.

The mammoth balloon, looking like a white flying fish was sighted in the distance about 9 o'clock and 15 minutes later was over Roosevelt field. She cruised about in a circle at a height of about 1000 feet until word was telephoned that everything was in readiness for the landing.

While the R-34 was circling the field, Maj. Pritchard jumped off with a parachute. He landed safely near headquarters and smilingly hurried indoors before an ambulance that had been rushed to the scene, could reach him. This was nearly a half hour before the dirigible came to an anchor.

More Than 500 Ready for Action

Lieut. Hoyt, U.S.N., the ground officer, had assembled on the field a force of more than 500 soldiers and sailors ready for instant action as the R-34 circled lower and lower. When she was only 200 feet above the ground a huge hawser was let go from under her nose. British non-commissioned officers with American soldiers and sailors shouted gleefully as they seized the rope and hung on like grim death.

Then water ballast was dropped from the forward end of the dirigible and her nose tipped. Then she began to descend. Five more guide lines were dropped and landing parties grasped them as the water ballast was dropped from the stern. In both operations at bow and stern the landing crews were drenched by the cascading water. Maj. Scott directed all the details of the landing and it was carried out as smoothly as though the inexperienced landing crew had been anchoring dirigibles all their lives.

The hawsers were attached to concrete blocks, two at each end and one at either side in the centre. When the great ship was safely anchored all the ropes except the ones at her nose were cut loose so she could swing with the wind like a ship at anchor.

The first man to step "ashore" was Maj. Scott. He obviously was tired out but happy. On his face was several days' growth of beard and he showed plainly the strain he had been under. He wore the regulation air costume. Short and chunky and typically British, the military skipper of the huge airship, shook hands with Gen. Lionel E. O. Charlton, British air attaché in the United States, who was waiting for him. The greeting was as typically British as the appearance of the commander. There was no demonstration and the two officers met as casually as though the trip had been across the English channel.

Brig. Gen. E. M. Maitland, D.S.O., official observer for the British air ministry, was the next to step out of the car. He looked fresher than his companions for he had no duties to perform to the way across except to keep the ship's log. He said he had slept well and he had taken time to shave. He wore an officer's cap, a top coat, woolen breeches and felt shoes. His only regret seemed to be that the R-34 had caused anxiety by sending out the wireless call saying assistance might be needed.

Lieut. Com. Zachary Lansdowne, the American observer on board the R-34, looked almost as haggard as Maj. Scott, whom he had assisted all the way across. The same was true of the other five officers and the 23 men of the crew.

HUMAN INCIDENTS OF GREAT TRIP OF R-34

MINNEOLA, July 7.—Not in the mere record of miles covered is to be found the romance of the R-34's voyage to America. The full story of this great adventure, this gamble against the elements, is revealed only through the human incidents of the trip, chronicled in the form of a log by Brig. Gen. Edward M. Maitland, official observer for the British air ministry.

This story—a Jules Verne tale come true—was written while the giant dirigible was leaving the ground at East Fortune, while it was pressing out of sight of land, while it was battling its way across the Atlantic and eluding electrical storms in the northland, while it was slipping safely down the shore line of Long Island to its anchorage at Mineola.

It is an intensely human story, set down in simple, unaffected style. But it is doubtful if the greatest master of English could paint a more vivid picture.

In it are described the feelings of men starting on a great adventure—cheerfully confident in the face of a hundred dangers. In it is described the courage of red blooded men fighting their way through an ocean of cloud and fog.

In it is described the resolute daring of men calculating coolly just how much fuel, already greatly shortened, they could expend in dodging tempests which might dash them to destruction. In it is described the fighting spirit of aerial adventurers combating to the last a situation which might force them to call for assistance. But nothing is to be found in the log of the great joy which must have surged up in every man's heart when they dropped anchor victoriously—safe at the end of the 3600 mile voyage.

Flying at Night

"When flying at night, there is always a feeling of loneliness on leaving the ground," reads an entry made after the airship had partly taken the air, but it is followed almost immediately by a description of the first breakfast in the air, which ends:

"In the adjoining compartment, the gramophone was entertaining the crews with the latest jazz tunes."

Then comes an account of sleeping in hammocks on a service airship with a word of caution for the unwary sleepers.

"There is only a thin outer cover of fabric on the underside of the keel on each side of the walking way, and the luckless individual who tips out of his hammock would in all probability break right through this and soon find himself in the Atlantic."

There follows a series of word pictures of cloud formations, showing that, as in the case of Alcock and Brown, the R-34 was at times floating between two layers of wireless messages breaking through these cloud banks to bring cheer to the adventurers; of meals cooked over exhaust pipes and engine repairs made with chewing gum; of the discovery of a feline stow-away smuggled aboard by a superstitious member of the crew; and then sighting the ice fields and Newfoundland, with terse observations on aerial navigation.

Instead of finding expressed at this point exuberance of captain and crew, it is remarked that the airman think they would like to stop at Newfoundland and Nova Scotia sometime for shooting and fishing, as the forests and lakes viewed from the air hold promise of much game and fish.

Then comes a more anxious entry: "The petrol question is becoming decidedly serious."

And again: "For some little while past there has been distinct evidence of electrical disturbances."

Then comes a description of two thunder storms successfully evaded—"set down quite simply as they occurred and more or less in the form of a diary," as Gen. Maitland promised at the head of his log.

Story of Flight

The story of the flight as entered in the log after describing the start from East Fortune, Wednesday, July 2, at 1.42 a. m., follows in part:

"The airship rose rapidly to 1500 feet, at which height she emerged from the low-flying clouds and headed straight up the Firth of Forth toward Edinburgh."

"It should be borne in mind that when an airship sets out on a long distance voyage carrying her maximum allowance of petrol she can only rise to a limited height at the outset without throwing some of it overboard as ballast and that as the airship proceeds on her voyage she can if so desired gradually increase her height as the petrol is consumed by the engine."

"An airship of this type when most

Chicago, St. Louis and Washington were the Sunday winners in the American league. The White Sox were out-hit by Detroit, but effective pitching by Williams in the pinches pulled his team through. RECORD RULES WILLARD KNOCKED OUT

TOLEDO, O., July 7.—Because of the controversy over the duration of the heavyweight championship contest between Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey, and whether Dempsey should be credited with the knockout, Ollie Record, referee of the independence day, referred last night that Willard was knocked out in the third round.

Record also ruled that the fight ended at the close of the third round, despite the fact that the towel was not tossed into the ring from Willard's corner until the bell had sounded for the fourth round. Willard, however, did not leave his chair to answer the call for the fourth round.

Richard, promoter of the contest, requested an official ruling from Record because of the hundreds of telegrams he received asking if Dempsey should be credited with a knockout victory, and when the bout officially ended.

C. B. Shesler of Chicago, who operated the automatic machines and a book on the contest, announced he cleared $27,000. He said that if the fight had ended in the first round his winnings would have totaled $125,000, and if Willard had answered the bell for the fourth round they would have been reduced to $25,000.

Willard was disturbed last night by reports that he was dying, that he had been removed to a hospital, and that he was dead. The defeated champion of the punishment cage gave him, and has decided to move to his home in Lawrence, Kan., as soon as his injured leg is healed. Mrs. Willard and her personal friends will make the trip with him.

Richard announced that both the boxers were sent to full last night. Dempsey was given $27,500 in cash, while Willard received $25,000 in Liberty Bonds, and the remaining $25,000 of his $75,000 guarantee started to tear down the arena yesterday and 20 no-frances were guarding the structure last night.

LEWISTON CLUB OWNERS REPORTED TO HAVE WITHDRAWN TEAM FROM N.E.L.

LEWISTON, Me., July 7.—Voluntary forfeiture of the Lewiston franchise of the New England baseball league was announced last night by the owners, Albert Tyson of Portsmouth, N. H., and William F. Carrigan and William P. Gray, both of Lewiston. Dissatisfaction with the management of the franchise was assigned as the cause.

Fred Parent, player-manager, and several other members of the Lewiston team have left Lewiston.

Pres. John H. Donnelly of the league said over the telephone from Portland last night that he would come to Lewiston today and would make an effort to keep the Lewiston club in the league. He said that no reason had been given him for the withdrawal of the franchise owners.

No additional word regarding the reported forfeiture could be obtained in Lewiston this morning. It is believed Pres. Donnelly is in Lewiston attempting to prevent a complete rupture. It is further understood that Pres. Donnelly will be able to interest other men in the Lewiston club and that the franchise will simply change hands and the operation of the team will continue.

BRAVES BEAT DODGERS IN THE FIRST

Six runs in the first inning, the only ones made by the Braves during the game, were enough to beat Brooklyn yesterday, 6 to 1. Mamarr, who relieved Grimes, held Boston to three hits in the six and a fraction innings he worked, while Smith allowed one safe hit in two innings. Cruise had a perfect batting average.

CHICAGO DEFATED ST. LOUIS YESTERDAY ON A WILD PITCH BY MAY

Chicago defeated St. Louis yesterday on a wild pitch by May. The Cardinal pitcher allowed only four hits, but was as wild as a hawk. He forced a fly-swing in the eighth inning by hitting a base on balls, and then wild-pitched the winning marker across.

THE CINCINNATI REDS BUSTED THE FIRST PLACE IN THE NATIONAL LEAGUE YESTERDAY BY DEFEATING PITTSBURGH TWICE BY SUPERIOR PLAYING, WHILE THE GIANTS WERE 30-0 IN TWO INNINGS

The Cincinnati Reds busted the first place in the National league yesterday by defeating Pittsburgh twice by superior playing, while the Giants were 30-0 in two innings. The Reds won 3 to 1 and 2 to 0. Snider and Ruesher pitched invincible ball, the latter winning his eighth straight game when he hurled his shut-out.

GRAND CIRCUIT RACES

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 7.—The 11th renewal of the Edwards stake for 2,000 horses featured the opening of the Grand Circuit at North Randall today. Dan Hedgewood, Harvester, Maggie were among the fourteen entered to contest for the $3,000 purse. Four other events were on the card—a 2-30 trot, a 2:22 trot, the Forest City, two-year old, and a 2:06 pace.

SHE WANTS MORE MONEY

Loreana Carroll Says She Can't Possibly Get By on $15,000 Per Year

She can't get by on $15,000 a year. That's what pretty 19-year-old Loreana Carroll of New York city declares. Just why $15,000 per year is not enough for the fair Loreana is a mystery even to her cousin, F. James Carroll, manager of the Lowell Opera House, who for more than 10 years has made his home in Lowell.

But Mr. Carroll's little cousin is most emphatic about it. It can't be done, says Loreana, and that's all there is to it. And so the poor little girl has petitioned the surrogate court of New York to make an order allowing her to have $20,850 a year in the future, so that she may successfully combat old high cost of living.

Loreana is the only daughter of the late Joseph D. Carroll, millionaire horseman. She was left the income from $150,000 until she becomes 21, after which she will come into the residue of the estate, amounting to $1,250,000. Loreana tried her best to coax her father's executor to loosen up a mite, but to no purpose, which resulted in the aforesaid petition to the surrogate court.

Loreana not only insisted to the court that a bare $15,000 a year is entirely inadequate for the young American miss of today, but she backed her contention with facts and figures, which she and her mother believe will force the court to see the light.

The following is the list of Loreana's yearly expenses, as compiled by her mother and presented to the surrogate court:

Rent, $2,000
Clothing, including sport coats, evening dresses, jewelry, furs, toilet articles, etc., 3,000
Household expenses, 1,000
Insurance, 850
Maintenance of two automobiles, 5,000
Education and church, 2,000
Summer cottage, railway fares, hotel bills, dinners, dances and amusements, 3,000
Physicians, opticians, dentists, drugs and medicines, 1,000
Total, $20,850

U. S. OFFICER DECORATED BY LUXEMBURG

CORLENZ, Sunday, July 6.—(By the Associated Press.) Individuals and the smaller units of the old Third Army are losing no time in getting out of Germany. All trains are crowded with casuals, and sleeping car reservations from Coblenz to Paris are booked a week ahead.

The Fifth Division began moving from Luxembourg Friday and the Fourth Division is scheduled to leave the Rhine sector Tuesday. Next scheduled to move in the direction of home is the Second Division, due to leave the east bank of the Rhine July fifteen.

The officers' club in the Casino of a private German club, one of the finest on the Rhine, was closed Saturday night. In the six months it was used by the Americans many notable persons were entertained, including the Prince of Wales and Gen. Pershing, who dined with welfare workers, nurses and telephone girls in the spacious ball room.

Despite efforts not to make money, the club has 200,000 marks on hand which will be divided among the Salvation Army and Army Relief associations handling funds for the families of enlisted men.

The Amaroc News, the army's daily, will cease publication July 15, after an existence of three months. The newspaper made money from the beginning and will quit with a surplus of more than 250,000 marks, which also will be contributed to some charitable organization in the army work.

Gen. Harry Smith, who is in charge of civil affairs in districts of Germany occupied by American troops and in the Duchy of Luxembourg, was the guest of honor on July 4 at a dinner given at Luxembourg by the government of the Duchy. During the dinner he was decorated with the Order of the Crown, the presentation being made by Prime Minister Reuter on behalf of Duchess Charlotte. This is the first decoration bestowed by Luxembourg for more than six years.

SHOWS HOW WOMEN HELPED TO WIN WAR

BOSTON, July 7.—The part played in winning the war by the women of the New England states outside of Connecticut, working through the American Red Cross, is shown in a report today that they produced 29,621,763 articles during the 23 months from July 1, 1917, to May 31, of this year. The estimated value of the articles was $8,720,193.

Surgical dressings, hospital garments and supplies, refugee garments and articles for soldiers and sailors were the principal products of the army of more than half a million women engaged in this work in five states, Connecticut not being included in the New England division, which made the report.

Cossette of Warrancet street, Mr. and Mrs. Ephrem Pelletier of School street, Adolphus Desile of the Lowell pharmacy and his brother, Dr. Damase Desile of Haverhill, left this morning in automobiles on a month's trip to Canada. The party will visit relatives and friends in Ottawa, Ont., Montreal, Quebec, Three Rivers, and other places. Mr. and Mrs. Desile, their son, Arpes, and their daughter, Beatrice, will leave Wednesday morning to join the other Lowell excursionists.

LOWELL MAKES CLEAN SWEEP OF SERIES

(Special to The Sun)

FITCHBURG, July 7.—Lowell again gave tangible evidence of real hitting power here Saturday afternoon, when the local team dropped its third straight game to Hayden's club, the score being 8 to 5. Eddie Boyce pitched against Bob Clark and not until the ninth inning was the Lowell hurler in trouble. A rally got the home team three runs during its last time at bat, but was snuffed out before the game was in any great danger of being lost by Lowell.

Every man on the Lowell team got one or more hits, Bossie leading with two doubles. He also handled several fly balls in center field perfectly. Little Fitch roamed over considerable territory between second and third and had a very busy afternoon.

Lowell was first to score, getting three runs in the third frame. Two more came over in the seventh and a trio of singles and a hit batsman counted for another in the eighth. Boyce weakened toward the end of the game and the visitors got two more in the ninth for good measure.

The crowd went wild in the ninth when the home team rallied and threatened to drive Clark from the peak. Frittag singled and Boyce followed with his third hit. Fitch met the ball hard, but drove it on a line into Lynch's hands. Connell singled, scoring Frittag and Jacobson's hit brought over two more. Clark then tightened and got the next two men.

The Call'em

Jack Barry has had a talk with Manager Connie Mack relative to his transfer to the Philadelphia club, and is reported as having told his former boss he will not play with the Athletics, but will seek an absolute release from the Boston Americans, thus making himself a free agent. Barry has never reported in Philadelphia, although Strunk, the other man in the deal which brought Shannon and Roth to the Red Sox, is playing, regularly for Mack. If Barry gets a discharge, it will mean some other player of the Boston team must be turned over in his stead, as Mack would never consent to exchange two players for Strunk.

Peck, Dual Leader

Peckinpaugh, the Yankee captain, not only has battled his way to the leadership among American league hitters, but also leads the run-getters with a total of 50, a clear lead of seven over his nearest rival, Babe Ruth. Peck has hit safely in 25 consecutive games, a record which will stand for the season without a doubt and he is not done yet. His batting average today stands at .355, 34 points higher than Veatch's .351. Cobb is trailing Veach by five points.

Praise for Pat Moran

Pat Moran has landed his Cincinnati Reds in the lead. Moran always shown unusual ability as a director of plays and players but the way he has been guiding the Reds along this season has surprised everybody, and it now looks as if he will be in the race to the finish, with his chances of eventually winning just as good as anybody's. Moran's teams rarely win badly, while the Giants are somewhat erratic. When McGraw's team has a winning streak it runs wild, and when a slump comes it goes just as fast the other way.

Nine Out of Ten

The Red Sox have made but 10 home runs this season and Ruth has driven out nine of them, the other circuit club being credited to Melvin. Babe's feat of smashing out two in succession last Saturday against the Athletics, was his biggest work of the year. They also showed his extreme versatility, for the first run landed high up in the right field bleachers, while the other cleared the left field wall.

Hoof Beats at Cleveland

Today the Grand Circuit makes its 1915 debut at Cleveland and the crack trotters and pacers of the country will battle until the season closes with the free-for-all pace at Cleveland, scheduled for Friday of this week. They bring together Miss Harris M. 1:55 1/4, Sule G. 1:59 3/4, Directum J. 2:01 1/4, Peter Nash 2:01 1/4, Verlis Patchen, 2:01 1/4, Tr. 2:02 1/4, and Lillian T. 2:03 1/4.

That is why many manufacturers boast of even a dash of Turkish tobacco in their brands.

CITY EMPLOYEES UNITE
FOR BETTER WAGES

Representatives of all the wage earners employed by the city of Lowell—policemen, firemen, lands and buildings departmentmen, street, sewer men and all others, held a large and very enthusiastic meeting in the Trades and Labor hall yesterday afternoon. It was voted that the body take joint action in an endeavor to get the city council to grant their demands for a 15 per cent increase in wages.

Previous individual attempts have been made to secure better wages, but it was the unanimous opinion of those present, that united action was necessary to bring results. The committee agreed to keep close tabs on the actions of the government, and if no move is made to grant the demands of the wage earners, a big protest meeting will later be held in Associate hall.

"Secret Government"

Continued

Council assumed such broad powers that Maj. Gen. Goethals, former chief of the purchase, storage and traffic division of the war department, defied it; cabinet members protested against its advice, and Judge Gary, president of the United States Steel Corporation, accused it of operating in "flagrant violation of law."

Revealed Intent of Congress

Mr. Graham declared the president created the "secret government" by ignoring and reversing the intent of congress in authorizing the establishment of a council of national defense in August, 1916. As authorized by congress, he said, the council was to be composed of six members of the cabinet who were to be the real executives and seven civilians to be selected by the president who were to act in a purely advisory capacity. Instead of doing this, Mr. Graham asserted, the president made the advisory commission the real executives, "clothing them with unprecedented and almost limitless powers."

Designed All War Measures

"Behind closed doors, weeks and even months before war was declared," he said, "these seven men designed practically every war measure which congress subsequently enacted. They devised the entire system of purchasing war supplies, planned a press censorship, designed a system of food control and selected Herbert Hoover as its director, and even determined on the daylight saving scheme."

Carried Things With "High Hand"

"Conceived within the law, but brought into existence in absolute violation of the law, it is not surprising to find this secret government of the United States itself persistently ignored and even violated the law; that it allowed interested parties to fix the price of war supplies; that it put the people of the country to incalculable unnecessary expense and carried things with a high hand."

Mr. Graham declared that when Maj. Gen. Goethals was called "on the eleventh hour to rescue the war department from the public obloquy which was fast settling upon it as a result of the methods and incapacity of the commission, he repudiated and practically defied it."

Soldiers Died For Lack of Clothing

"Our soldiers were actually dying of pneumonia in the camps because of the lack of proper clothing and blankets," Mr. Graham said, "and General Goethals assumed the duties of quartermaster general only on condition he should have free scope in the performance of his duties, unhampered by the council of national defense."

"Immediately he took from the members of that council their power to order purchases and fix prices and soon dispensed with the services of those members of three advisory commissions who had so deplorably bungled the control of the supplies for the army."

Operate in Violation of Laws

Judge Gary advised the advisory commission, Mr. Graham said, that it was operating in disregard of the Sherman law, the Clayton law, "and all other statutes that are supposed to regulate business, particularly big business."

When the attorney general was called upon by the commission to answer Judge Gary, Mr. Graham said, he answered that the matters referred to as violations of law were matters of "national policy," rather than a legal question.

"Afterwards," Mr. Graham declared, "when there was evidently a discussion in Congress as to the illegality of members of the committees of the council buying from themselves, the council discussed this general policy and it was suggested that 'this embarrassment might be removed by the plan of the committee re-organization now under consideration."

"The minutes show that on account of this so-called embarrassment the war industries board was created, and committees were appointed by the national chamber of commerce so the letter of the law might be complied with, but by which scheme no part of the method of buying was changed on the slightest degree so far as I can observe."

Formulated Legislation Before War

Citing cases in which he said the council formulated legislation before war was declared, which legislation later was considered by congress, Mr. Graham declared that on Feb. 15, 1917, the council discussed the system and considered a report from Commissioners Samuel Gompers and Howard W. Coffin relative to the exclusion of labor from military service, on the same day recommended that Herbert Hoover be employed by the government in connection with food control, and on March 3 endorsed the daylight saving scheme and recommended a federal censorship of the press.

Sell to Government Direct

"About the first thing the commission did was to take up the matter of arranging an easy method of communication between the manufacturers and the government," Mr. Graham continued. "In several meetings long before war was declared, the commission met with the representatives of the manufacturing industries and formed an organization of them for selling supplies to the government."

"This method consisted of having the representatives of various businesses producing goods which the government would have to buy from themselves in committees so they might be able to sell to the government direct. When war was declared, this machinery began to move."

"Big Business" Highly Organized

"Although this scheme was supposed to enable the industries to deal with the governments as one man, the government was at no time able to deal with the industries through one man, and on the contrary throughout the war numerous federal bureaus were biding against each other for the same supplies, with greatly increased cost to the government. Under the ministrations of the council 'big business' was highly organized while the government remained wholly disorganized and incapable of preparing itself against flagrant profiteering."

Mr. Graham concluded his statement by saying so far as he had been able to observe from the minutes of the council, there had not been an act of the so-called war legislation which had not been discussed and settled upon by the council's advisory commission before the actual declaration of war. At times, he said, "the activities of the commission were such as greatly to embarrass the cabinet and it became necessary for the cabinet to protest against them."

MATRIMONIAL
The marriage of Mr. Willie Bourgeois and Miss Florida Bourgeois, consins, took place last evening at 5:15 o'clock at St. Joseph's rectory, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Armand Baron, O.M.I. The bride wore a brown traveling suit with pink picture hat and carried sweet peas. She was attended by her brother, Mr. Antonio Bourgeois, while the bridegroom's attendant was his brother-in-law, Mr. Hippolyte Duchesne. At the close of the ceremony the couple left on a wedding trip to Canada and upon their return Friday evening they will be tendered a reception at the home of the bride's father, Mr. Leo Bourgeois, 135 Aiken street, where they will make their home.

IDEAL WEATHER FOR PLAYGROUND OPENING
Ideal summer weather, contrastingly acceptable from the brand dealt out during the latter part of last week, marked the opening of the 1919 playground season in this city under the auspices of the park commission today.

The playgrounds have three locations this summer, the North and South commons and the Chambers street commons. The North common and Chamber street grounds got underway at 2 o'clock this morning, according to schedule, but owing to a large amount of debris on the South common resultant from the midway on the Fourth of July, the playground here will not open until tomorrow morning.

The playground season will continue for eight weeks or until Thursday, Aug. 28, when closing exercises will be held. Through the courtesy of Agents Mitchell, Wadleigh, Milliken and Rawlinson of the local mills, 100 yards of percale, gingham or chambray has been received from each of their concerns to be used by the girls for sewing.

The equipment of the various grounds is up to the standards of other years with plenty of bats, balls, gloves and other sporting facilities. On the North common there is a battery of 50 swings and on the South common and Chambers street grounds 10 swings each.

The sessions will be held every Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from 9 a. m. to 11:15 a. m. and from 2 to 4:30 p. m.

The instructors in charge of the boys are all veterans of the world war and are planning to introduce calisthenics, exercises and games modeled after the exercises of the army. All the instructors will work full time every day and not part time as has been the case in previous years.

The instructors on the North common are Thomas F. Pyne and the Misses Grace McCue, Natalie M. McQuaid, Helen Castles, and Mae Sullivan. On the South common they are William McKay, T. L. Conway and the Misses Louise K. Mahoney, Muriel Leach, Charlotte Green and Harriet McAlone. On Chambers street the supervisors are John E. Laurensen, Miss Mary Riordan and Miss Anne E. Reynolds.

The shower baths at the Eliot school will be in charge of Charles McCabe.

Community Sing

telling of the sing at houses in the Belvidere section, but persons from every part of the city are earnestly urged to attend. The league has had gifts of sign painting and printing from local concerns engaged in that sort of work.

The program of sing, one of which will be held every Tuesday evening throughout the summer months, embraces every part of the city. They will be rallying points in the interest of community betterment and Americanization, and are sure to become extremely popular.

The committee which has planned the series includes: Mrs. Luther Faulkner and Mrs. C. B. Redway, representing the Girls' Friendly society; Miss Grace Stekham and Miss Maude Davis, representing the Girl Scouts; Miss Elizabeth Haggerty, representing the Catholic sodalities; Miss Frances McNair, representing the Y.W.C.A.; Miss Helen Barnes, representing the International Institute; Miss May Irvine, representing the I.W.H.A.; Miss Winifred Loughridge, representing the Community Service club, and Miss Catherine Breth, representing the Camp Fire Girls.

Recreational Work
Miss Louise Jennison of this city, Radcliffe college class of 1910, has been secured by the Community Service club as assistant recreational director during the summer. Miss Jennison's college activities and accomplishments make her an admirable choice. During her three years at Radcliffe she has served as president of the college dramatic club, was class song leader and played on the varsity basketball and hockey teams. She will work with the Crillon, recreational leader.

The tennis and baseball classes under instruction at the Normal school grounds in Broadway will carry on full vigor this week. Classes will be held on Wednesday and Thursday evenings and Thursday and Saturday afternoons. It will not be necessary for the class girls to first report at the room in the Runels building but, rather, they are asked to be at the Normal school at the scheduled hours.

ISOLATION HOSPITAL
Employees of the public property department today began preparing the floors of the new isolation hospital in Varnum avenue for its formal opening some time this fall. The floors are to be scraped and then shellacked. The equipment for the various buildings which by law must come from the Concord reformatory, has not yet been delivered.

MOREY SCHOOL MUDDLE

The public property department is at present involved in somewhat of a muddle over the Morey school problem. For some years past the Highland district has been in great need of better school accommodations and accordingly it has been decided to build an 18-room addition to the present Morey school. It is proposed also to make certain improvements on the old building which, if carried out, would entail very considerable expense. The available appropriation for the project so far as can be learned, is $150,000. Recently bids were called for on the plans providing for the changes in the old structure and the construction of the new. The lowest bid was $311,000 which indicates that the plans must be radically modified or else the greater part of the repairs on the old building will have to be abandoned for the present. Commissioner Marchand must learn to cut his coat according to his cloth. Why submit plans calling for an expenditure practically double the amount available?

It seems to us that what should be done in regard to the matter is to separate the work on the old building from that of the new so that the contracts could be figured on separately. It would then be definitely known what this 18-room building would cost and how much would be left for repairs on the old building. The property department could then proceed intelligently within its resources in carrying out repairs on the old building. It can be readily imagined how very easy it would be under present conditions to expend almost the price of a new building upon remodeling an old one. It is to be hoped that Commissioner Marchand will adopt a different method of figuring upon the work to be done so that he can keep within his appropriation and at the same time make the best possible use of the funds set apart for providing better school accommodations for the Morey school district.

THE NEW CHAMPION

Of all the versions of the Willard-Dempsey fight, that which charges Willard with "laying down" to Dempsey is the most unreasonable. Does the tree that falls before the hurricane in the forest lie down for safety? To assume so would be as sensible as to charge Willard with cowardice and dishonor. If Willard wanted to give Dempsey the prize he could have done so without getting the worst beating ever given a pugilist in the prize ring in any fight however long. No, the fact is that "Jesse" for the first time in his life met a phenomenal fighter, a human dynamo, master of ring science and whose blow has the force of a trip hammer. That Willard stood 67 such blows while succeeding in landing only eleven blows that his grilling was not of his own volition. Willard retires well fixed as he never squandered a penny as did most of the other champions. He can now enjoy in peace, having been separated from the championship in a record making battle.

The man who faces the new champion within the next few years will not lack courage in addition to whatever else he may have.

THE GERMAN CULPRITS

It has been decided that Holland will be asked to extradite the ex-emperor of Germany and that he will be tried in London on the charges of violating international law in the progress of the war waged by the central powers against the allies. It appears that the idea of executing the ex-emperor has been abandoned and as we have already suggested, that is the best course to follow. The allies could not safely allow the former kaiser to enjoy his liberty so that he might continue to plot trouble and possibly start wars. The world will breathe easier when Wilhelm is safely incarcerated in some lonely island like St. Helena.

What will be done with some of the other offenders such as the crown prince, Admiral Von Tirpitz, Bethmann Hollweg, Hindenberg and others has not yet been determined, but there is one man above all others who deserves to be executed and that is Admiral Von Tirpitz, the chief author, instigator, leader and director of the ruthless submarine warfare whose motto was "sink without a trace." Yes, Tirpitz should be taken out to sea, placed upon the deck of a submarine which should then be submerged, leaving him to drown as many of his victims were drowned during the war. Von Tirpitz and Bethmann Hollweg will stand prominent among the German offenders; but for intrigue, deceit and downright treachery not one is more culpable than Bernstorff. Old Hindenberg claims that he was responsible for policies attributed to the ex-emperor. Hindie is willing to be the goat but he cannot deceive the allied leaders as to where the real responsibility for the ruthless German policy lay. To hold the German culprits to strict personal accountability will have a good effect in the future in restraining would-be rulers and pirates masquerading as world reformers.

SAVE THE BABIES

Very hot weather even of brief duration usually lays the foundation of many cases of sickness among young children to develop into cholera infantum later. During the hot spell many little ones are exposed to the intense heat of the sun to such an extent that they become sick and unable to take food. That condition under unskilled treatment will in many cases develop into cholera infantum which unless promptly checked will end fatally. It is now quite safe to predict that as a result of the hot spell, now happily over, there will be a crop of perhaps fifty deaths of little ones throughout the city.

It should be unnecessary to advise the parents to keep the little ones cool, take them out into the cool shade of trees either in the parks or the suburbs. Do not let the increased car fare deter you from taking them to a cool place. Carfare is cheaper than doctors' bills and the cool air in the shade of the pines better than the doctors' medicine in the city; and this is no reflection on the doctors. They will advise keeping the little ones cool and taking them to the woods in a hot spell if it is possible there to get them the food they require. Many a death results from failure to call a doctor before the disease has reached a dangerous stage.

HEALTH PROBLEMS

Life insurance reports indicate that more persons die of pneumonia than any other disease.

It used to be supposed that pneumonia germs were taken into the lungs with the air we breathe, but certain medical authorities now say that they are taken in with the food we eat and work their way into the lungs through the blood.

But, be all this as it may, it has been pretty well proven by the microscope that we are all the while coming in contact with all sorts of disease germs through touch, breathing, eating and drinking; that it is not how many nor the kind we take in, but rather our power to resist them.

And this power of resistance depends upon the state of our general health.

While we are from time to time visited with epidemics in the way of diseases, yet it is a well known fact that the majority of persons are not affected by them.

The germ of the disease epidemic is all the while flying about and it is simply the power of resistance of those not affected over those who are affected.

While this does not mean that sanitary laws nor the laws of personal health should be neglected, yet the state of mind has a good deal to do with the power to resist disease.

The fear of disease lowers the power to resist disease.

At the time of these epidemics we all read and hear their symptoms until we imagine we have the disease—our powers of resistance are lowered to a point of succumbing.

It is a well known fact that when medical students first begin reading books on physical diagnosis that they imagine they have many of the diseases described in them.

An English humorist once said that after reading a medical book that he had every disease in the calendar, including housemaid's knee.

A continued fear or belief in a disease will no doubt finally affect the body through the mind and to a lowered power of resistance, just as most of us have noticed that a sudden fright or fit of anger will, for a time, have a very manifest effect upon the body through the digestive functions.

BRITISH DIRIGIBLE'S FEAT

The arrival of the R-31 on the coast of this continent after a non-stop flight across the Atlantic from Scotland is an event of great importance to the world. It marks a distinct advance in aviation and so far as present indications go the dirigible is a form of airship most likely to come into general use for transatlantic freight carrying purposes. It may not be necessary to have each particular airship as large as the R-31 but it is quite likely that smaller types of the same class can be used with greater speed and satisfactory carrying capacity. The art of aviation from the present moment is sure to go forward with leaps and bounds until some day not far distant, we shall see daily air service across the Atlantic.

The Boston Globe in offering the information that eleven states have ratified the suffrage amendment says this number includes the state of Missouri which has been "shown." Many of our eastern states don't care a hoot whether Missouri decided to ratify or not. Apart from having nurtured Gen. Pershing and Champ Clark, what has Missouri done to brag about?

When we learn that the Texas legislature wants to have the United States go to war with Mexico and we realize that not only is Austin, Texas, five times as hot as it was the day this was written in New England, but that northern Mexico is five times as hot as Austin, we wonder if those Texan legislators have any sense of temperance anyhow.

"At Chattanooga," said a veteran of the Civil war, "one of the men in my command left early in the action and no one saw him until after the battle, when he appeared in camp unharmed and unabashed. Some of the boys accused him of running away, but he wouldn't admit it."

"I only retreated in good order," he declared.

Booze King's Swan Song

There's a plaintive note of sadness In the music of the trees, There's a murmuring on the south wind And a whispering in the breeze Each fragrant flower of summer, Has dropped its petals to the ground And the crickets chirp the whole night long For Tom and Jerry's dead.

The skies of old Kentucky Somehow seem dark and gray While the bluegrass in the meadows Droops listlessly all day. The far famed southern colonels Have packed their grips and fled For life's not worth the living now That Miss Mint Julep's dead.

There's a black crepe on the doorknob Of Casey Jones' saloon, And Casey's lost his happy smile, His heart is filled with gloom. The gang that once hung 'round all night Are all at home in bed A-crying for the better loss For old Budwaiser's dead.

There's an aristocratic clubroom On Fifth avenue, Where joy and mirth once reigned supreme. But now the place seems blue. The members are in mourning. And bitter tears are shed. Nights are long and lonely there Since old King Whiskey's dead.

The chorus girl and sourette Are in despair and woe. For after lengthy parties are Over, the long ago. How wistfully they now regret The word they left unsaid, For millionaires are hard to catch Since Miss Champagne's dead.

So everywhere there seems to be An undertone of grief, And at the present writing We're gasping for relief. We'll all drink Coco-Cola soon Instead of wine that's red For all the states have gone bone dry And old King Boozie's dead.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

July 4th was a very hot day, probably one of the hottest of the entire year. The sufferings of the people throughout the city were in many cases intensified by the total lack of ice. The Gage company, for some unaccountable reason having failed to supply its customers as well as it usually does. Perhaps the demands were exceedingly great or perhaps the men and horses were overcome by the heat, but the shortage of ice was particularly felt in families having small children, where food had to be kept fresh. The ice men made their trips but on a good part of their routes they had no ice to sell. The consequences on a day like Friday cannot easily be estimated. Perhaps the demand was so abnormal that the rule of first come first served left many to be overlooked.

HER LAST APPEAL FOR LEAGUE OF NATIONS

NEW YORK, July 7.—Dr. Anna Howard Shaw's last message to the women of her country was an appeal for the League of Nations. The manuscript, much of it in Dr. Shaw's own handwriting, was received here last Tuesday at the national headquarters of the League to Enforce Peace and is now in the printer's hands for publication.

Dr. Shaw was a member of the national executive committee of the league and one of the first women elected to office in that organization. She took an active part in the league's campaign for ratification of the Paris covenant, and her friends believe that her enthusiasm for the league caused her to overtax her strength during the trip she made last May with ex-President Taft and other leading supporters of the covenant, travelling every night and speaking every day at a series of league conventions. She was stricken with pneumonia at

"There's bubbles on 'em" says Bobby

No corn flakes like POST TOASTIES

Springfield, Ill., when the trip was half over.

In the manuscript received here Dr. Shaw says:

"Everybody must die, sometime; and it does not make as much difference, perhaps, as to the number of days we live as it does to the manner in which we live the days we do live."

Dr. Shaw's statement, which probably represents her last work before the relapse which caused her death on Wednesday, is entitled "What the War Meant to Women." In it she makes an impassioned plea for the establishment of a League of Nations for permanent peace and calls upon the women in the United States to use all their influence to bring about the ratification of the league covenant. Following are some of Dr. Shaw's most striking sentences:

"We know that men are ready to die in war; but there are a great many things harder than to die. There are some things that are worth a great deal more than life, and one thing which was worth more than life to the men who went out and laid down their lives for their countries, was not to leave a dishonored nation, a nation unworthy of the civilization of our time, a nation which had no heart to feel and no understanding to realize the conditions of intimate association between nation and nation and the obligation when one nation has to care for and sympathize with another."

"While Mr. Wilson said we want nothing out of the war, I said in my own heart—It may be that we want nothing material out of the war, but oh, we want the biggest thing out of this war that has ever come to the world. We want peace now and peace forever."

"If we cannot get that peace out of this war, what hope is there that it will ever come to humanity? Was there ever such a chance offered to the world before? Was there ever a time when the peoples of all nations looked towards America as they are looking today, because of our selfishness in our dealings with them during the war?"

"The treaty of peace which has been submitted to the Germans I think is the most marvelous document in the world, and I have been wondering how many hundred men it took to think up all the demands they put into that peace pact."

"We must look facts in the face. All humanity is one. The world is one. And no nation can suffer unless all nations suffer. No nation can prosper without all nations prospering. We have got to take facts as they are and we have got to find out the best thing we can have. The best thing that has been given us and the only thing we have before us is this League of Nations. We have no other League of Nations. We have only this one. We must take this one or no one can tell what will come. We have no midway point. We have no purgatory. We have to choose either heaven or hell. We must take it or we must reject it."

"Oh, men, we women, the mothers of the race, have given everything, have suffered everything, have sacrificed everything, and we come to you now and say, 'The time has come when we will no longer sit quietly by and bear and rear sons to die at the will of a few men. We will not endure it! We will not endure it! We demand that either you shall do something to prevent war or that we shall be permitted to try to do something ourselves.'"

"Could there be any cowardice, could there be any injustice, could there be any wrong, greater than to refuse to hear the voice of a woman expressing the will of women at the peace table of the world and then for men not to provide a way by which the women of the future shall not be robbed of their sons as the women of the past have been?"

"To you men we look for support. We look for your support back of your senators and from this day until the day when the League of Nations is accepted and ratified by the senate of the United States, it should be the duty of every man and every woman to see to it that the senators from their state know the will of the people; that they know that the people wills that something shall be done, even though not perfect; that there shall be a beginning, from which we shall construct something more perfect by and by, that the will of the people shall be overlooked."

IN MISERY FOR YEARS

Mrs. Courtney Tells How She Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Oskaloosa, Iowa.—"For years I was simply in misery from a weakness and awful pains—and nothing seemed to do me any good. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and got relief right away. I can certainly recommend this valuable medicine to other women who suffer, for it has done such good work for me and I know it will help others if they will give it a fair trial."—Mrs. LIZZIE COURTNEY, 108 8th Ave., West, Oskaloosa, Iowa.

Why will women drag along from day to day, year in and year out, suffering such misery as did Mrs. Courtney, when such letters as this are continually being published. Every woman who suffers from displacements, irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, backache, nervousness, or who is passing through the Change of Life should give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial. The letters constantly being published from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

FRENCH OFFICER REGRETS Fiume Incident

ROME, Sunday, July 6.—Gen. Savi, commander of the French troops at Fiume, says in an interview with the Giornale D'Italia, that the action of some of his soldiers who recently offended Italians in that city by cheering for Jugo Slavia, was "most deplorable." He points out, however, that it would be a "mistake to generalize and make the fault of a few that of the whole French contingent."

He says he did his best to be neutral in the question of Fiume, especially as he has in his command some Serbian troops, but he adds that he understands the position of the Italians and that "if he were in their place he would have acted likewise."

Expressing his regret for the incident, he says:

"I am sorry there should be any feeling between two peoples who have fraternized at the front against the common enemy. Italy ought to be compensated for her sacrifices, and when Fiume is assigned to Italy, I shall be the first to rejoice from the bottom of my heart."

MINOR RELEASED

Case Against American Writer Is Dropped

COBLENZ, Sunday, July 6.—(By the Associated Press.) Robert Minor, the American newspaper correspondent and cartoonist, who has been under detention here by army authorities pending an investigation, has been released. Officers said the case had been dropped on orders from higher authorities. It is understood he will be returned to Paris, where he was arrested a month ago by the French at the request of the British. The latter refused to prosecute him, turning over evidence to the American authorities of a conspiracy to spread radical propaganda among soldiers within the British and American area.

THE FIRST KNOCKDOWN—LOOK WHERE PECORD WAS!

WEATHER HEALTH FOR BABY—DON'T DRESS BABY—

ADDRESS HIM!

BY MRS. MAX WEST.

Care Expert of the United States Children's Bureau

The baby (left) has on too many clothes. The hood, woolen coat, wool band, petticoat, and dress make him uncomfortable and cross. A diaper and thin slip is his proper costume for hot days.

The excessive heat which prevails in many parts of the United States between June and September is hard on the baby, and it takes a good deal of thought and care on the mother's part to keep him comfortable, by constant attention to food, clothing, baths and outdoor life.

To insure the baby's comfort through the blazing days of July and August in the eastern and southern parts of the United States, he should be very lightly clothed, even to the point of having off most of his clothing during the hottest part of the day. The light part wool band, diaper, and perhaps a thin slip are quite sufficient if the mother is careful to put on his stockings, shirt and outside garments as the day cools. It is especially important not to chill the baby, and if there is a sudden drop in the temperature when a storm comes up or a high wind blows the baby should be dressed at once in such a way that he will not be too suddenly cooled.

In the north and west, clothing must also be adapted to the temperature. There may be days of fierce heat when the baby should be dressed as just described, but for the most part, the baby will be comfortable with a light-weight shirt and band, petticoat and a thin slip or dress with a woolen sack or coat for cooler hours. A little baby's feet should be kept warm and thin part-wool stockings which cover the knees will usually be required. For the older baby no shoes and stockings are needed in warm weather in the middle of the day.

The mother's judgment must determine what changes are required in order to keep the baby comfortable.

PREACHERS JOIN UNION

Delegate of Ministers' Union in California Discusses Plans of New "Local"

BY REV. CHARLES SYDNEY PRICE, Pastor of Calvary Congregational church, Oakland, Cal., and delegate of the Ministers' union to the building trades council and the central labor council.

The only way a man can show his love for God is by showing his love for man.

Ministers in California have formed a labor-union, and are planning to take an active part in the labor union movement. This activity will increase.

It is not a question of "bringing the people back to the churches." It is a question of getting the churches back to the people.

A tremendous change is at hand in the relations between pastor and laboring man. The minister is a laborer—usually an underpaid laborer. Ministers are coming to realize this. We no longer consider ourselves a class apart from humanity.

Many ministers worked during the war in shipyards and other industries. Those men understand. They are now leading the thought of the churches.

There is today among ministers an absolutely different attitude from that of five years ago. The pastor today knows he is on the labor side of the fence. He sees the intimate connection between just working conditions and the kingdom of Jesus Christ.

Most preachers have been "little brothers of the rich"—not because their minds or hearts were bad, but because their eyes were shut. In our blind adoration of Jesus Christ, we have forgotten the principles of Jesus Christ as applied to everyday affairs.

I don't blame the man who stays away from church. If the church has nothing to give him regarding his daily problems. The real reason why most pastors are paid low wages, is that the church has taken an indifferent attitude toward the vital matters of human life.

When workmen see the churches dealing with the problems of the people—the slum, proper housing, poverty and debt, a fair relation between labor and capital—then the workmen will crowd to the churches as to friends who will help them work out a Christian solution.

The pastors are waking up. They are, in particular, deeply interested in stopping the spread of Bolshevism, which is against Christianity as much as it is against the great mass of labor, and against capital.

Bolshevism is natural. The mind of a workingman, struck into activity by injustice and suffering, will always try to work out a remedy. If a sane, peaceable remedy will work, he will choose that. If not, he will turn to Bolshevism.

It is a question of leadership. When the churches give practical interpretation to the teaching of the New Testament, when they give enthusiastic support and leadership to those elements of labor which seek a sane and a just solution, then they will get the people back. They will save themselves, by helping save society.

That is why I have taken a certain leadership in persuading ministers to form a union and take an active part in the labor movement. They must act, both for themselves and for labor—the same labor that opposes Bolshevism and will fight to prevent the capitalists from manufacturing Bolshevism.

of her petrol. Is consumed can rise to a height of about 14,000 feet.

"For this reason the next few hours were one of the most anxious periods during the flight for Maj. Scott, the captain of the ship, who, owing to the large amount of petrol carried (4900 gallons weighing 15.8 tons) has to keep the ship as low as possible and at the same time pass over northern Scotland, where the hills rise to a height of over 3000 feet.

"Owing to the stormy nature of the morning, the air at 1500 feet—the height at which the airship was traveling—was most disturbed and bumpy, due to the wind being broken up by the mountains to the north causing violent wind currents, and air pockets.

"The most disturbed conditions were met in the mouth of the Clyde, south of Loch Lomond, which surrounded by high mountains, looked particularly beautiful in the gray dawn light.

"The islands at the mouth of the Firth of Clyde were quickly passed. The north coast of Ireland appeared for a time and shortly afterward faded away as we headed out into the Atlantic."

The ship plunged at the outset into fog, the log recording it at 7 o'clock as down to within 50 feet of the water and up to a height of about 5000 feet. The ship had a slight drift to the south. A few minutes later they found themselves between two layers of clouds. The log describes the sleeping arrangements, saying "they consist of a hammock for each of the men of watch suspended from the main ridge girder of the triangular internal keel which runs from end to end of the ship. In this keel are situated the 51 petrol tanks, each of 71 gallons capacity; also the living quarters for officers and men and stowing arrangements for lubricating oil for the engines, water ballast, food and drinking water for the crew.

"Life in the keel of a large rigid airship is by no means unpleasant. There is very little noise or vibration except when one is directly over the power unit—a total absence of wind, and except in the early hours of dawn, greater warmth than in the surrounding atmosphere.

"Getting into one's hammock is rather an acrobatic feat, especially if it is along high, but this becomes easy with practice—preventing one's self from falling out is a thing one must be careful about in a service airship like the R-34. There is only a thin outer cover of fabric on the underside of the keel on each side of the walking way and the luckless individual who tumbles out of his hammock would

PLANS FOR RECEPTION TO PRES. WILSON

ON BOARD U.S.S. GEORGE WASHINGTON, Sunday, July 6 (By wire to the Associated Press).—The presidential fleet, which is steaming toward New York today, encountered the first breath of the heat wave which has prevailed along the Atlantic coast. It was accompanied by humidity and considerable fog and the ships slackened their pace to 12 knots an hour.

President Wilson rested a good part of today, but spent some time on the upper deck and, with Mrs. Wilson, visited wounded soldiers in the deck hospital. He will devote tomorrow and Tuesday morning to finishing his message to congress. This will probably be in shape to go over with some of his cabinet advisers on Wednesday, preparatory to its presentation and the submission of the peace treaty, the treaty with France and the protocols to congress on Thursday.

Arrangements have been made for arriving in New York early Tuesday afternoon and in Washington Tuesday night. It is expected that the outgoing fleet of warships will be met on Tuesday morning, when the first salutes will be exchanged and the combined fleets will proceed together. Sunday noon should be reached somewhere around noon and the fleet will then move slowly through the narrows to the upper bay.

President Wilson will land at Hoboken in the afternoon and will cross by the 23rd street ferry to New York city where a citizen reception committee will be waiting. From the ferry house the president will go to Fifth avenue, thence to 57th street and Carnegie hall, where there will be a reception with a brief address by the president.

To Go Down Harbor

NEW YORK, July 7.—On his return from France tomorrow on board the U.S.S. George Washington, President Wilson will be met down the bay by several hundred prominent citizens composing the official reception committee.

BARTENDERS NOT ON THE PAYROLLS

A regular meeting of the Bartenders' union was held yesterday afternoon at Merrimack hall. It was announced that delegates will be appointed to attend the convention to be held in Greenfield, Mass., in September. It was reported that, despite the statement made to the mayor last week by some liquor dealers to the effect that some of the bartenders were being kept on their payrolls, the majority of bartenders of this city received wages for only the actual time they were employed, while a few were retained on the payroll for the balance of the week in appreciation of the tremendous business done on the last day and for the purpose of cleaning the premises.

EARL PALMER DROWNED
AT LAKEVIEW

Earl Palmer, aged 20 years, of 111 Hale street, lost his life by drowning in Lake Mascoupee Saturday afternoon when a canoe in which he was paddling with two companions in some manner overturned within 25 feet of the pavilion. Palmer's companions were J. E. Messer and C. E. Morrill, both of Lowell. When the craft turned over Palmer was thrown quite a distance from it, while Messer and Morrill landed close alongside. Messer, a strong swimmer, assisted Morrill to the shore, but Palmer after a struggle to stay above the surface, sank and apparently was dead when taken from the water a few minutes later by persons from the shore who hastened to the scene in a rowboat.

Thomas Johnson, who raised Palmer's body, with a nurse who was nearby, worked for nearly an hour to induce artificial respiration and the pulse motor was brought from Lowell but without result. The body was taken to the city to the rooms of Undertaker George W. Healey.

PLAN PARADE FOR BIG CELEBRATION

A very important meeting of three of the committee in charge of arrangements for the welcome home reception to be tendered the French-speaking soldiers and sailors of this city Aug. 28 was held yesterday at the C.M.A.C. hall in Pawtucket street with Chairman Joseph L. Lamoureux in the chair. Plans for the parade, which will be held in the afternoon, and which will be a feature of the event, were outlined, subject to the approval of the general committee, and Chief Marshal Albert Bergeron announced that within a few days he will appoint the marshals of the various divisions. At present it is being planned to have a cavalcade, an automobile division, a motorcycle and bicycle division, a women's division and a division composed of fraternal and social organizations as well as one that will include the soldiers and sailors.

The finance committee reported that a plan is being drafted for a money raising campaign and that teams will be appointed within the near future. Concerning the evening meeting on the North common, it was reported that not more than five speakers will be invited to address the gathering, among them to be Governor Coolidge. It is also expected that the children of the French-American orphanage will lend their help in the concert numbers.

A meeting of automobile owners will be held this evening in C.M.A.C. hall and it is hoped that all those who own automobiles will be present. Other business of importance was transacted at yesterday's meeting.

ALLIES CAN ONLY HAVE
BODY—CROWN PRINCE

AMSTERDAM, Saturday, July 5.—"The Allies can only have my dead body; I will myself decide on my life or death," the former German crown prince is quoted as having said Friday in discussing a possible demand for his extradition.

This statement, reported by the British wireless service correspondent, was said by him to have been made to a Dutch official who talks daily with the former crown prince.

According to this official, Frederick Hohenzollern is in excellent health. He takes motorcycle trips daily and frequently visits both the rich and the poor on the island of Wieringen.

is granted at least 10 days must elapse after the application.

The dealers will hold a meeting in Elks' hall, Middle street, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30, at which a plan of action will be decided upon. Like Diogenes, they are on a search for the truth or the nearest approach to the truth, as it may later be interpreted by the department of justice of the federal government.

City Solicitor's Opinion

City Solicitor William D. Regan gave to the license commission late Saturday the following opinion on two queries submitted to him earlier in the day:

July 5, 1919.

Gentlemen:—Beg to acknowledge your communication of even date in relation to liquor licenses containing the following queries:

"If applications are filed for second, third or fifth class licenses by persons who exercised licenses of the various classes under the special act of 1915, before action is taken by the commission on these applications, must the prior licenses first be surrendered and cancelled?"

"If these second, third and fifth class licenses are granted by the commission, and the special act is removed, may these licenses be surrendered and cancelled and licenses of the first and fourth classes be granted and issued, applications for the same having first been made?"

Chapter 10 of the general acts of 1919 provides that licenses may be issued and may after certain acts of congress or the president of the United States be extended for a certain period of time.

Chapter 53 of the acts of 1911 provides among others "if a license has been surrendered or cancelled, the board or authority issuing the license may renew another such license of the same class."

In answer to query No. 1, it is my opinion that the licenses referred to must be surrendered and cancelled.

In answer to query No. 2, it is my opinion that after a license of the second, third or fifth class is granted and it is surrendered or cancelled, a license of the same class is the only license your board can renew under chapter 53 of the acts of 1911, as there is no other authority vesting your board the right to grant a license during the license year upon the surrender and cancellation of a prior license.

Any sales under a license issued by your board prior to the war time prohibition, being determined by act of congress or the president of the United States may be subject to federal prosecution, and such licenses carry only the right to deal in intoxicating liquors as a beverage so far as to give immunity under the laws of the commonwealth to the licensees, and it might be well for such license to state on their face that they are subject to any and all provisions of federal law and are granted solely under the provisions of the laws of this commonwealth.

Sincerely yours,

WILLIAM D. REGAN,
City Solicitor.

R-34 Brings First Picture of Signing of Peace

The R-34 snapped as she nosed down to Roosevelt Flying Field. Letter "A" indicates forward nacelle from which Commander Lansdowne handed peace picture to N. E. A. man.

FIRST NEWS PICTURE TO BE BROUGHT FROM EUROPE BY AIR ROUTE

The pictures printed above are the most remarkable exhibition of newspaper enterprise ever attempted. The treaty of peace was signed in the Hall of Mirrors, at Versailles, Saturday, June 28. The European manager of The Newspaper Enterprise association, H. E. Bechtel, covering this great historical event at Paris for The Sun, planned to get this picture to The Sun and other members of the N.E.A. first. The photograph was placed aboard a British Royal Air Force aeroplane and rushed from Paris to London at a speed of 130 miles an hour. A courier met the plane at London and by special train to East Fortune, Edinburgh, Scotland, was able to hand the package to Commander Lansdowne, United States navy, who made the trip by invitation of the British air ministry, on board the British dirigible R-34. The big airship, after flying across the Atlantic, landed at Roosevelt Flying field, Mineola, Long Island, yesterday, Sunday morning, July 6. Commander Lansdowne handed the package to the New York manager of the Newspaper Enterprise association, who had been advised by cable, and the pictures were rushed to New York city by fast automobile, and thence by special delivery mail to The Sun for the benefit of its readers. This extraordinary feat beat by at least two and a half days the fastest Atlantic liners and the United States destroyer speeding across the ocean with this great historical picture.

Dictated Policies of Country and Befriended "Big Business"—Other Charges

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Charges that the president organized the council of national defense before war was declared in absolute violation of law, and thereby created a "secret government of the United States" which formulated war legislation, dictated policies the country was to pursue and befriended "big business," were made today by Chairman Graham of the special house committee investigating war department expenditures.

Minutes of the council were read to the committee by Mr. Graham, with a report in which he asserted the

ASK POLK TO GO TO PARIS

Wanted To Take Place of Sec. Lansing as Head of American Mission

PARIS, July 7.—Announcement was made today that Frank L. Polk, acting secretary of state in Washington, had been asked to come to Paris to take the place of Secretary Lansing, as head of the American peace mission, if his health would permit.

Discussions with the Germans with regard to certain terms of the peace treaty regarding reparations were to have been begun early this week, but it developed today that the beginning of the oral exchanges had been postponed until Thursday the German representatives having failed to arrive from Berlin.

The commission of admirals appointed to consider the disposition of the remaining German warships submitted their report to the council today. In effect the report states that no recommendations on the question are possible until certain matters of policy have been decided by the powers.

The probability seems to be that the whole question will be finally referred to the governments of the various powers concerned.

TO EXTRADITE EX-KAISER

Steps Being Taken To Send Representations to Dutch Government

No Official Demand For Former German Ruler Yet Presented

LONDON, July 7.—"The allies have not yet made any official representations to the Dutch government regarding the extradition of the former German emperor, but necessary steps are being taken in the matter," Andrew Bonar Law, government spokesman, declared in the house of commons today.

Mr. Bonar Law's statement was made in reply to a question of a member. Asked whether any official communication had been sent to the Dutch government, he said: "I would rather not say."

Another member then asked: "Is the spokesman for the government aware that nobody particularly wants the ex-kaiser to be brought here?" This question was received with cheers.

Rev. L. H. Buckshorn, Westford, Shoots Self While Despondent Over Ill Health

Rev. Louis H. Buckshorn, pastor of the Unitarian church, Westford, committed suicide by shooting at his home this morning. Depression, due to ill health, is assigned as the cause of the tragedy. Rev. Mr. Buckshorn had been in Westford for a number of years and about 10 years ago accepted a pastorate in Concord, N. H. He later went to several other communities and returned to the Unitarian church in 1916, where he has officiated ever since.

GIANT BLIMP OFF TOMORROW

R-34 To "Hop Off" Early Homeward Bound From Her Historic Flight

Will Fly Over Boston—Expects To Pass Over the George Washington

Broke From Mooring and Almost Got Away—Saved by 300 Men

MINEOLA, N. Y., July 7.—Half an hour before the sun rises tomorrow morning the giant British dirigible R-34 will cast loose from her moorings at Roosevelt field and speed into the east, homeward bound from her historic flight across the Atlantic. She will fly over Boston. The official hour of departure set by her commander, Maj. G. H. Scott, is 5 a. m., but it is dependent on the caprices of the weather which has persistently interfered with the huge airship since she left her haven at East Fortune, Scotland, Tuesday night. An unlooked-for change in the weather will postpone the departure for at least a day, as Major Scott has announced that no attempt will be made to start on the return voyage after the sun is up.

President Wilson will have an opportunity to view the mammoth traveler of the skies if she sails on her scheduled time.

Major Scott has planned to diverge from his course far enough to pass over the incoming George Washington.

Vice Admiral Gleaves, commander of the cruiser and transport service of the Atlantic fleet, today sent the following message to Capt. Edwin McCauley, commander of the George Washington:

Dirigible R-34 enroute to England will probably pass over the George Washington at noon tomorrow. On her return trip the R-34 will act as postman for the United States. Twenty five pounds of mail arrived here today

PUBLIC WELFARE IS SUPREME LAW

Ancient Motto of Romans
Being Applied by the Italian Government

With Profiteers Punished,
Machine Gunners Take Control and Riots End

ROME, Sunday, July 6.—"Salus publica suprema est" (The public welfare is the supreme law), the ancient motto of the Romans, is being applied by the Italian government at this critical moment of the national life of Italy.

"The government closed one eye, indeed, in some cases both, for so long that the people took the law in their own hands," said a leading Italian statesman today. "They were aiming at giving a harsh, but deserved lesson to profiteers. It was right that the people should punish those who made millions through the suffering of the population which for over four years strained every nerve in the face of the greatest struggle of its history. With pitiless energy, however, as pitiless as its leniency heretofore, the government now intends to repress any attempt to transform a just protest into something more serious."

Florence has been occupied by military forces and the machine guns of the troops. It has been shown the mobs and robbers, were not taken there merely for show. The same thing has happened at other most rebellious centers, especially at Ancona and Brescia, where many persons were wounded.

Demand Price Reduction

In Genoa, where the uprising against the cost of living took a most orderly form, the people imposed a reduction in all prices, watched the carrying out of this order and prevented any violence against shopkeepers. They intervened whenever attempts were made to ransack shops, putting down the disorderly elements with much greater energy than the police ever used. At Milan the people have presented an ultimatum, demanding that the prices of all necessities be materially reduced by Tuesday.

Shoe Shops Ransacked

A mob ransacked nearly all the shoe shops at Palermo, the troops being called out too late to prevent pillaging. When they appeared they were received with applause, the crowd shouting to the soldiers, "no firing, boys, we aren't at the front. Here we are all brothers and all are against the vampires who have starved us."

From all towns where disorders have occurred the same report is coming. A week ago everything could be bought at high prices, but now the shops are closed, goods are lacking and nothing can be found, entire families in many places are in despair at finding something to eat.

Count Olgiati, prefect of Florence, has been removed from office. He was transferred to that city from Milan during the war after he had been unable to prevent a general strike in Milan.

Strike Called Off

FLORENCE, Sunday, July 6.—The strike was declared off at midnight Saturday. All is calm in the city.

To Banish Wrinkles and Freshen Up Quickly

After a strenuous day outdoors, when wind, heat and exhaustion have combined to take away one's freshness and caused the skin to wrinkle and sag or after a tedious or faithful day indoors—one often has urgent need for some quick rejuvenator. Maybe there's a dance on for the evening, or some other social event. How in the world can one make herself presentable, looking as she does? It's quite easy. Just get an ounce of powdered sassafras and a half pint witch hazel at the nearest drug store, mix the two and bathe the face in the solution for two or three minutes. Then look into your mirror and behold the wonderful transformation! Wrinkles have vanished, loose, tired muscles have been rested and "firmed up," marks of fatigue have flown, and you look so much brighter and younger you can hardly believe your eyes. No one need hesitate to try this, the witch hazel and sassafras being so perfectly harmless.—Adv.

cloud, with the sun and sea visible only at rare intervals, the vessel was forced to cruise 3000 miles to reach Trinity Bay, N. F., from East Fortune, Scotland, and 1944 miles from there to Mincola.

When she arrived here she had left only enough petrol to keep her moving 50 minutes longer. Her crew, almost sleepless for four and a half days, were weary almost to the point of exhaustion but happy at the successful completion of their trip. The return voyage probably will be started at 3 a. m. Tuesday.

Haggard, unshaven, their eyes bloodshot from the long vigil and lines of care deep in their faces, Maj. G. H. Scott, the commander, and his officers showed plainly the effects of the anxious hours through which they lived yesterday while they were cruising over the far reaches of Canada and the Bay of Fundy, beset by fog, heavy winds and terrific electrical storms.

"It seemed as though the atmosphere was haunted by 5000 devils," said Lt. Guy Harris, the meteorological officer. With the R-34 long overdue at its destination, with its petrol supply running low and buffeted by strong headwinds, Maj. Scott decided Saturday while over the Bay of Fundy to send a wireless call to the American navy department to be prepared to give assistance if it were needed. This was merely a measure of precaution and did not indicate discouragement. While destroyers and submarine chasers were racing to her assistance, the R-34 was plugging steadily ahead on the way to Mincola. Once clear of the Bay of Fundy the atmospheric hoodoo which had beset the craft from the time it took the air was gradually left in its wake.

The R-34 headed southwest out across the Atlantic along the coast of Maine, her nose pointed for Cape Cod, with the United States destroyer Bancroft hanging on her tail and in constant wireless communication with her. The bulldog navy craft stuck close in the wake of the air monster, running under forced draft until Cape Cod was reached, and then the dirigible cut across lots.

Decided to Go to Mincola

It had been decided on the voyage along the coast that unless a favoring wind came up, the R-31 would be forced to land at Montauk Point and early yesterday a wireless message was sent out making that announcement. With the Cape left behind, however, fortune finally favored the balloon and the wind veered in her favor. Headed straight for Montauk Point she ran true and before the tip of the Long Island was reached it was decided to go on to Mincola. With the goal almost in sight, the R-34 flew majestically above the island and headed straight down the centre of it for Roosevelt Field, 100 miles away.

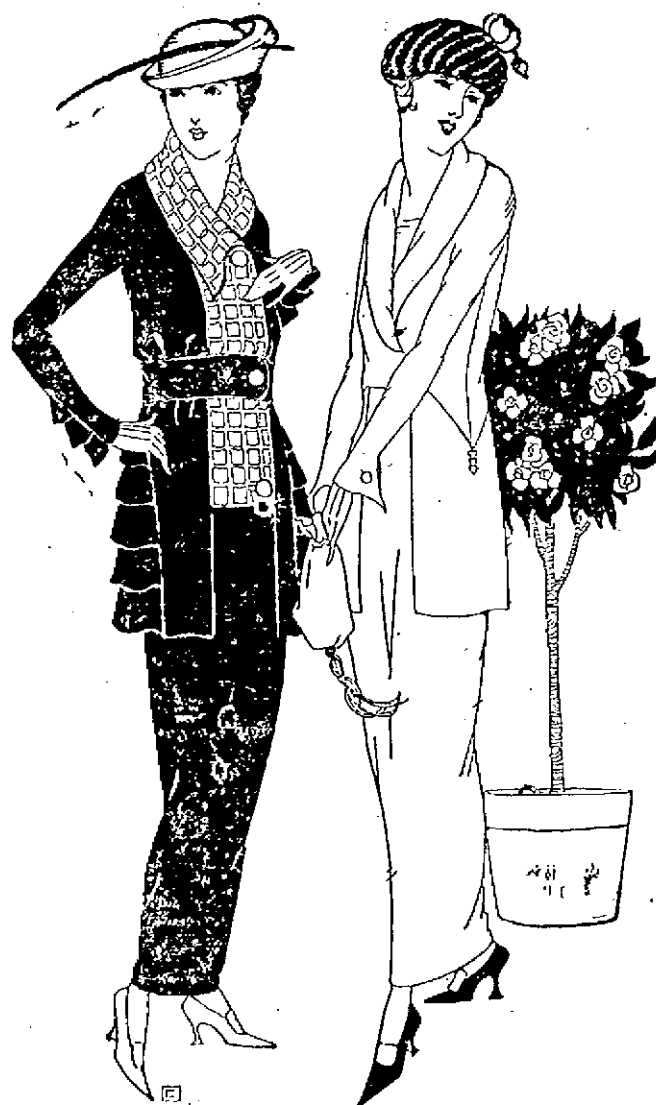

As she cruised over Riverhead, the dirigible came within range of the wireless telephone installed at Roosevelt field by the navy radio service and perfect communication was established. During the night the wireless calls from the R-34 were received by the navy radio station in New York.

Over the wireless telephone it was explained to Maj. Scott that a large part of the crew assembled to assist him in landing had been sent to Montauk Point in motor trucks in the expectation that he would tie up there and that consequently preparations for receiving him had not quite been completed.

The mammoth balloon, looking like a huge flying fish was sighted in the distance about 9 o'clock and 15 minutes later was over Roosevelt field. She

While the R-34 was circling the field, Maj. Pritchard jumped off with a parachute. He landed safely near headquarters and smilingly hurried indoors before an ambulance that had been rushed to the scene, could reach him. This was nearly a half hour before the dirigible came to an anchor.

More Than 500 Ready for Action

Lt. Hoyt, U.S.N., the ground officer, had assembled on the field a force of more than 500 soldiers and sailors ready for instant action as the R-34 circled lower and lower. When she was only 200 feet above the ground a huge hawser was let go from under her nose. British non-commissioned officers with American soldiers and sailors shouted gleefully as they seized the rope and hung on like grim death.

Then water ballast was dropped from the forward end of the dirigible and her nose tipped. Then she began to descend. Five more guide lines were dropped and landing parties grasped them as the water ballast was dropped from the stern. In both operations at bow and stern the landing crews were drenched by the cascading water. Maj. Scott directed all the details of the landing and it was carried out as smoothly as though the inexperienced landing crew had been anchoring dirigibles all their lives.

The hawsers were attached to concrete blocks, two at each end and one at either side in the centre. When the great ship was safely anchored all the ropes except the ones at her nose were cut loose so she could swing with the wind like a ship at anchor.

The first man to step "ashore" was Maj. Scott. He obviously was tired out but happy. On his face was several days' growth of beard and he showed plainly the strain he had been under. He wore the regulation air costume. Short and chunky and typically British, the military skipper of the huge airship, shook hands with Gen. Lionel E. O. Charlton, British air attaché in the United States, who was waiting for him. The greeting was as typically English as the appearance of the commander. There was no demonstration and the two officers met as casually as though the trip had been across the English channel.

Brig.-Gen. E. M. Maitland, D.S.O., official observer for the British air ministry, was the next to step out of the car. He looked fresher than his companions for he had no duties to perform to the way across except to keep the ship's log. He said he had slept well and he had taken time to shave. He wore an officer's cap, a top coat, woolen breeches and felt shoes. His only regret seemed to be that the R-34 had caused anxiety by sending out the wireless call saying assistance might be needed.

Lieut. Com. Zachary Lansdowne, the American observer on board the R-31, looked almost as haggard as Maj. Scott, whom he had assisted all the way across. The same was true of the other five officers and the 23 men of the crew.

HUMAN INCIDENTS OF GREAT TRIP OF R-34

MINEOLA, July 7.—Not in the mere record of miles covered is to be found the real romance of the R-34's voyage to America. The full story of this great adventure, this gamble against the elements, is revealed only through the human incidents of the trip, chronicled in the form of a log by Brig. Gen. Edward M. Maitland, official observer for the British air ministry.

This story—a Jules Verne tale come true—was written while the giant dirigible was leaving the ground at East Fortune, while it was passing out of sight of land, while it was battling its way across the Atlantic and eluding electrical storms in the northland, while it was slipping safely down the shore line of Long Island to its anchorage at Mincola.

It is an intensely human story, set down in simple, unaffected style. But it is doubtful if the greatest master of English could paint a more vivid picture.

In it are described the feelings of men starting on a great adventure—cheerfully confident in the face of a hundred dangers. In it is described the courage of red blooded men fighting their way through an ocean of cloud and fog.

In it is described the resolute daring of men calculating coolly just how much fuel, already greatly shortened, they could expend in dodging tempests which might dash them to destruction. In it is described the fighting spirit of aerial adventurers combatting to the last a situation which might force them to call for assistance. But nothing is to be found in the log of the great joy which must have surged up in every man's heart when they dropped anchor victoriously—safe at the end of the 3600 mile voyage.

Flying at Night

"When flying at night, there is always a feeling of loneliness on leaving the ground," reads an entry made after the airship had partly taken the air, but it is followed almost immediately by a description of the first

breakfast in the air, which ends:

"In the adjoining compartment, the gramophone was entertaining the crews with the latest jazz tunes."

Then comes an account of sleeping in hammocks on a service airship with a word of caution for the unwary sleepers.

"There is only a thin outer cover of fabric on the underside of the keel on each side of the walking way, and the luckless individual who tips out of his hammock would in all probability break right through this and soon find himself in the Atlantic."

There follows a series of word pictures of cloud formations, showing that, as in the case of Alcock and Brown, the R-34 was at times floating between two layers of wireless messages breaking through these cloud banks to bring cheer to the adventurers; of meals cooked over exhaust pipes and engine repairs made with chewing gum; of the discovery of a feline stow-away smuggled aboard by a superstitious member of the crew; and then sighting the ice fields and Newfoundland, with terse observations on aerial navigation.

Instead of finding expressed at this point exuberance of captain and crew, it is remarked that the airman think they would like to stop at Newfoundland and Nova Scotia sometime for shooting and fishing, as the forests and lakes viewed from the air hold promise of much game and fish.

Then comes a more anxious entry: "The petrol question is becoming decidedly serious."

And again: "For some little while past there has been distinct evidence of electrical disturbances."

Then comes a description of two thunder storms successfully evaded—"set down quite simply as they occurred and more or less in the form of a diary," as Gen. Maitland promised at the head of his log.

Story of Flight

The story of the flight as entered in the log after describing the start from East Fortune, Wednesday, July 2, at 1.42 a. m., follows in part:

"The airship rose rapidly to 1500 feet, at which height she emerged from the low-flying clouds and headed straight up the Fifth of Forth toward Edinburgh."

"It should be borne in mind that when an airship sets out on a long distance voyage carrying her maximum allowance of petrol she can only rise to a limited height at the outset without throwing some of it overboard as ballast and that as the airship proceeds on her voyage she can if so desired gradually increase her height as the petrol is consumed by the engine."

"An airship of this type when most

Harry S. New Now Says That Was Reason He Killed Miss Lesser

LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 7.—Harry S. New has admitted to the police that his fiancée, Miss Frieda Lesser, whom he shot and killed early Saturday morning, was not expecting to become a mother, as he previously had asserted. This admission was made, according to the police, when they confronted him with new statements by physicians.

Then he admitted he killed her because she had refused to marry him.

SACRED HEART LAWN PARTY JULY 19

Arrangements are being made for the annual open-air reunion of the parishioners of the Sacred Heart parish, which is scheduled to take place on the parochial grounds, Moore street, on Saturday, July 19, afternoon and evening.

For many years this annual event, which is looked forward to with pleasure not alone by the parishioners of the Sacred Heart but by the people of Lowell generally, as one of the most enjoyable features of the Fourth of July celebration has long since become a permanent affair. This year, however, when it was officially announced that Independence Day had been decided upon as an appropriate occasion to extend a public "welcome home" to Lowell's honored soldiers and sailors—many of whom are boys of the Sacred Heart parish—the Oblate Fathers of the church, ever desirous of co-operating with any public spirited, patriotic movement, and anxious that the parishioners might have an opportunity of turning out en masse to do honor to their boys who so uncomplainingly made such wonderful sacrifices in the great war "that the world might be safe for democracy" immediately decided to abandon the original date of the parish reunion, in favor of the 19th. In consequence of this alteration of the original plans for the big annual festival of the parish, many features that had been arranged for, will of necessity be eliminated.

However, not in the least discouraged, the various committees at a meeting Thursday evening of all the committees connected with the affair, discussed a tentative program of the day's activities, and judging from the enthusiasm, this year's open-air reunion will surpass any event of its kind yet presented under the auspices of the Sacred Heart parishioners. The athletic events will be along the lines of past successes, but entirely new features and many interesting surprises will be found along the "midway" which has heretofore been enjoyed by all as one of the chief delights of this annual outing. The beautiful parochial grounds, resplendent in their midsummer loveliness, are ideally situated for an affair of this kind, which really resembles the annual bringing together of one big pleasure seeking happy family. Amid this wholesome environment, so unlike the jostling crowd and noisy din of the South common's "night before," yet presenting more interesting and enjoyable features, in an orderly manner, the parishioners of the Sacred Heart parish and their friends throughout the city, look forward in anticipatory pleasure, from year to year, to the enjoyment of participation in this annual mammoth affair.

There will be a meeting of all the committees connected with the affair on Tuesday evening, when the rearranged program of activities will be further discussed.

HELD ANNUAL OUTING

The annual outing of the Westminster United Presbyterian Sunday school, which was held at Nabnasset pond, Chelmsford, Saturday, was a big success. The trip to the summer resort was made in automobile trucks and the program carried out on the grounds included races of all sorts, swimming and boating, while at noon luncheon was provided by the ladies of the church. The primary girls' race was won by Helen Cunningham, with Elizabeth McDonald second and Eleanor Ross third. In the junior girls' race Emma Fulton was first, Margaret McKittrick second and Florence Bulmer third. A boys' race was won by Douglas Ross, with Fraser McKittrick second. A baseball team, captained by Alex Ross, defeated one led by Rodrick Murray, 5 to 4, in a close and exciting contest.

THIS IS GOOD WORK

The International Institute is making it possible for foreign children who seldom see the green fields of the country to enjoy a day outside the city by conducting weekly picnics at Nabnasset pond. On a fair day in each week a truck goes through the foreign districts and gathers up the children, taking them to the pond, where they are entertained at the Y.M.C.A. camp. T. R. Williams in charge. The bathing beach and swimming grounds are turned over to them and everything possible done for their pleasure. The truck used last week was loaned by the Swift company and fruit was given to the children by the Outlet-Fruit Co.

CHICAGO, ST. LOUIS AND WASHINGTON WIN

Chicago, St. Louis and Washington were the Sunday winners in the American league. The White Sox were out-hit by Detroit, but effective pitching by Williams in the pinches pulled his team through a 4 to 1. The hitting of Earl Smith, Williams and Sweeney was responsible for St. Louis' second straight victory over Cleveland. The score was 5 to 3. Washington defeated New York, 3 to 1. The Yankees made ten hits off Johnson, but were unable to bunch them.

RECORD RULES WILLARD KNOCKED OUT

TOLEDO, O., July 7.—Because of the controversy over the duration of the heavyweight championship contest between Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey, and whether Dempsey should be credited with a knockout, Ollie Record, referee of the Independence day match, ruled last night that Willard was knocked out in the third round. Referee Record also ruled that the fight ended at the close of the third round, despite the fact that the towel was not tossed into the ring from Willard's corner until the bell had sounded for the fourth round. Willard, however, did not leave his chair to answer the call for the fourth round. Tex Rickard, promoter of the contest, requested an official ruling from Record because of the hundreds of telegrams he received asking if Dempsey should be credited with a knockout ended, and when the bout officially ended.

C. B. Shyster of Chicago, who operated the pari-mutuel machines and a book on the contest, announced he cleared $2,700. He said that if the contest had ended in the first round his winnings would have totaled $126,322, and if Willard had answered the bell for the fourth round, they would have been reduced to $25,000.

Willard was disturbed last night by reports that he was doing that he had been removed to a hospital, and that he was dead. The defeated champlion has entirely recovered from the effects of the punishment Dempsey gave him, and has decided to motor to his home in Lawrence, Kan., as soon as his injured eye is healed. Mrs. Willard and a few personal friends will make the trip with him.

Rickard announced that both the boxers were paid in full last night. Dempsey was given $27,500 in cash, while Willard received $50,000 in Liberty bonds, and the remaining $20,000 of his $100,000 guaranteed in cash.

Southern hunters started to tear down the grand yesterday and 20 policemen were guarding the structure last night.

FORFEITS FRANCHISE

Lewiston Club Owners Reported To Have Withdrawn Team From N.E.L.

LEWISTON, Me., July 7.—Voluntary forfeiture of the Lewiston franchise of the New England baseball league was announced last night by the owners, Albert Hyslop of Portsmouth, N. H., and William F. Carls and William P. Gray, both of Lewiston. Disaffection with the management of the league was assigned as the cause.

Fred Parent, player-manager, and several other members of the Lewiston team have left Lewiston.

Pres. John H. Donnelly of the league said over the telephone from Portland last night that he would come to Lewiston today and would make an effort to keep the Lewiston club in the league. He said that no reason had been given him for the withdrawal of the franchise owners.

No additional word regarding the reported forfeiture could be obtained in Lewiston this morning. It is believed Pres. Donnelly is in Lewiston attempting to prevent a complete rupture. It is further understood that Pres. Donnelly will be able to interest other men in the Lewiston club and that the franchise will simply change hands and the operation of the team will continue.

BRAVES BEAT DODGERS IN THE FIRST

Six runs in the first inning, the only ones made by the Braves during the game, were enough to beat Brooklyn yesterday, 6 to 4. Mamau, who relieved Grimes, held Boston to three hits in the six and a fraction innings he worked, while Smith allowed one run in the last two innings. Grimes had a perfect batting average.

Chicago defeated St. Louis yesterday on a wild pitch by May. The Cardinal twirler allowed only four hits but was as wild as a hawk. He forced in the tying run in the eighth inning by issuing a base on balls, and then wild-pitched the winning marker across.

The Cincinnati Reds busted the first place in the National league yesterday by defeating Pittsburgh twice by superior playing, while the Giants were idle. The scores were 8 to 1 and 2 to 0. Sallee and Ruetter pitched invincibly, the latter winning his eighth straight game when he hurled his shut-out.

LOWELL MAKES CLEAN SWEEP OF SERIES

(Special to The Sun)
FITCHBURG, July 7.—Lowell again gave tangible evidence of real hitting power here Saturday afternoon, when the local team dropped its third straight game to Hayden's club, the score being 8 to 5. Eddie Boyce pitched against Bob Clark and not until the ninth inning was the Lowell hurler in trouble. A rally got the home team three runs during its last time at bat, but was snuffed out before the game was in any great danger of being lost by Lowell.

Every man on the Lowell team got one or more hits. Bossie leading with two, and Clark and Fred Freitag following with one each. Lowell's batting average was .300, while the visitors' was .250. Lowell was first to score, getting three runs in the third frame. Two more came over in the seventh and a trio of singles and a hit batsman accounted for another in the eighth. Boyce weakened toward the end of the game and the visitors got two more in the ninth for good measure.

The crowd went wild in the ninth when the home team rallied and threatened to drive Clark from the peak. Freitag singled and Boyce followed with his third hit. Poole met the ball hard, but drove it on a line into Lynch's hands. Connolly singled, scoring Freitag and Jacobson's hit brought over two more. Clark then tightened and got the next two men. The score:

The Call'em

Jack Barry has had a talk with Manager Connie Mack relative to his transfer to the Philadelphia club, and is reported as having told his former boss he will not leave the Athletics, but will seek an absolute release from the Boston Americans, thus making himself a free agent. Barry has never reported in Philadelphia, although Strunk, the other man in the deal which brought Shannon and Roth to the Red Sox, is playing regularly for Mack. If Barry gets a discharge it will mean some other player of the Boston team must be turned over in his stead, as Mack would never consent to exchange two players for Strunk.

Peck, Dual Leader
Peckinpaugh, the Yankee captain, not only has batted his way to the leadership among American league hitters, but also leads the run-getters with a total of 50, a clear lead of seven over his nearest rival, Babe Ruth. Peck has hit safely in 25 of his 45 consecutive games, a record which will stand for the season without a doubt and he is not done yet. His batting average today stands at .385, 4 points higher than Veatch's .351. Cobb is trailing Veach by five points.

Praise for Pat Moran
Pat Moran has landed his Cincinnati Reds in the lead. Moran always has shown unusual ability as a director of plays and players but the way he has been sending the Reds along this season has surprised everybody, and it now looks as if he will be in the race to the finish, with his chances of eventually winning just as good as anybody's. Moran's teams rarely slump badly, while the Giants are somewhat erratic. When McGraw's team has a winning streak it runs wild, and when a slump comes it goes just as fast the other way.

Nine Out of Ten
The Red Sox have made but 10 home-runs this season and Ruth has driven out nine of them, the other circuit clout being credited to McInnis. Babe's feat of smashing out two in succession last Saturday against the Athletics was his biggest work of the year. They also showed his extreme versatility, for the first one landed high up in the right field bleachers, while the other cleared the left field wall.

Roof Beats at Cleveland
Today the Grand Circuit makes its 1919 debut at Cleveland and the crack trotters and pacers of the continent will battle until the season closes with the meeting at Atlanta, Oct. 13-18. The free-for-all pace at Cleveland, scheduled for Friday of this week, will bring together Miss Harris M. J. 2:23; Single G. 1:59 1/4; Directum J. 2:01 1/4; Peter Nash, 2:01 1/4; Verlie Patchen, 2:02 1/4; C. G. 2:02 1/4; and Lillian T. 2:02 1/4.

Loreana Carroll Says She Can't Possibly Get By on $15,000 Per Year

She can't get by on $15,000 a year. That's what pretty 19-year-old Loreana Carroll of New York city declares. Just why $15,000 per is not enough for the fair Loreana is a mystery even to her cousin, P. James Carroll, manager of the Lowell Opera House, who for more than 10 years has made his home in Lowell.

But Mr. Carroll's little cousin is most emphatic about it. It can't be done, says Loreana, and that's all there is to it. And so the poor little rich girl has petitioned the surrogate court of New York to make an order allowing her to have $20,850 a year in the future, so that she may successfully combat old high cost of living.

Loreana is the only daughter of the late Joseph D. Carroll, millionaire horseman. She was left the income from $150,000 until she becomes 21, after which she will come into the residue of the estate, amounting to $1,250,000. Loreana tried her best to coax her father's executor to loosen up a mite, but to no purpose, which resulted in the aforesaid petition to the surrogate court.

Loreana not only insisted to the court that a bare $15,000 a year is entirely inadequate for the young American miss of today, but she backed her contention with facts and figures, which she and her mother believe will force the court to see the light.

The following is the list of Loreana's yearly expenses, as compiled by her mother and presented to the surrogate court:

Rent	1,200
Clothing, including sport coats, evening dresses, jewelry, fur, toilet articles, etc.	3,000
Household expenses	4,000
Insurance	500
Maintenance of two automobiles	2,000
Education and church	500
Summer cottage, railway fares, hotel bills, dinners, dances and amusements	3,000
Physicians, opticians, dentists, drugs and medicines	1,000
Total	$20,850

a private German club, one of the finest on the Rhine, was closed Saturday night. In the six months it was used by the Americans many notable persons were entertained, including the Prince of Wales and Gen. Pershing, who dined with welfare workers, nurses and telephone girls in the spacious ball room.

Despite efforts not to make money, the club has 200,000 marks on hand which will be divided among the Salvation Army and Army Relief associations handling funds for the families of enlisted men.

The Amaroc News, the army's daily, will cease publication July 15, after an existence of three months. The newspaper made money from the beginning and will quit with a surplus of more than 250,000 marks, which also will be contributed to some charitable organization in the army work.

Gen. Harry Smith, who is in charge of civil affairs in districts of Germany occupied by American troops and in the Duchy of Luxembourg, was the guest of honor on July 4 at a dinner given at Luxembourg by the government of the Duchy. During the dinner he was decorated with the Order of the Crown, the presentation being made by Prime Minister Reuter on behalf of Duchess Charlotte. This is the first decoration bestowed by Luxembourg for more than six years.

SHOWS HOW WOMEN HELPED TO WIN WAR

BOSTON, July 7.—The part played in winning the war by the women of the New England states outside of Connecticut, working through the American Red Cross, is shown in a report today that they produced 29,621,753 articles during the 23 months from July 1, 1917, to May 31, of this year. The estimated value of the articles was $3,720,493.

Surgical dressings, hospital garments and supplies, refugee garments and articles for soldiers and sailors were the principal products of the army of more than half a million women engaged in this work in five states, Connecticut not being included in the New England division, which made the report.

The party will visit relatives and friends in Ottawa, Ont., Montreal, Quebec, Three Rivers, and other places. Mr. and Mrs. Elie Delisle, their son, Arpee, and their daughter, Beatrice, will leave Wednesday morning to join the other Lowell excursionists.

"A ROSE by any other name would smell as sweet"—but cigarettes of any other tobacco than Turkish don't smoke as enjoyably.

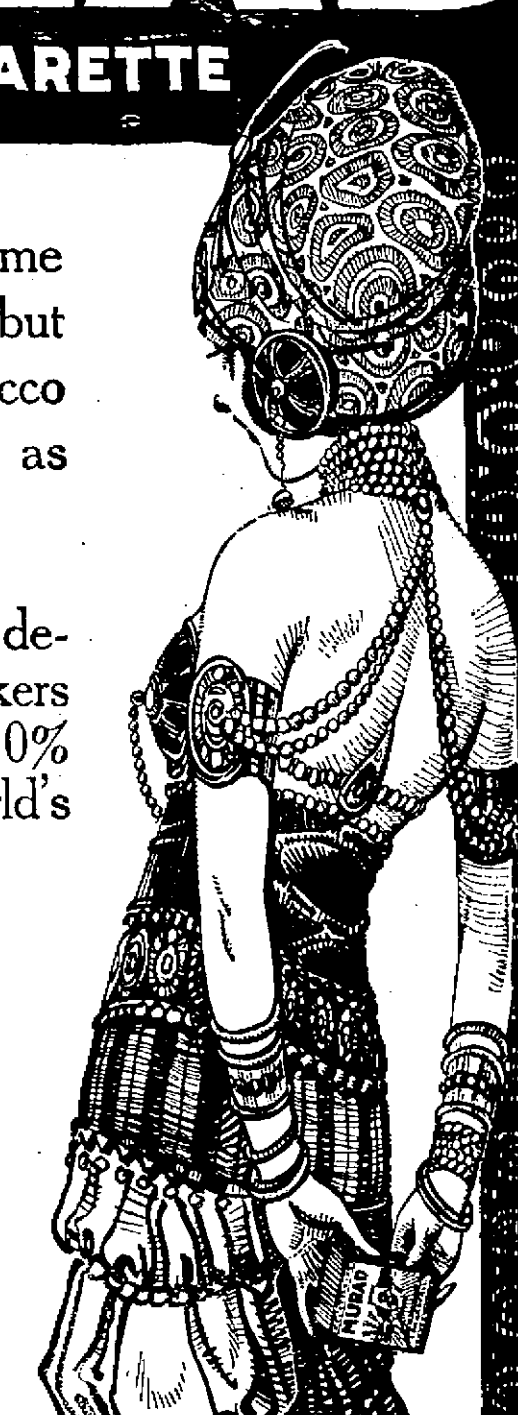

The reason Murads are demanded by thousands of smokers is that they are made of 100% pure Turkish tobacco—the world's most famous tobacco for cigarettes—and so conceded.

That is why many manufacturers boast of even a dash of Turkish tobacco in their brands.

It is true that "ordinary" cigarettes cost a trifle less.

CITY EMPLOYEES UNITE
FOR BETTER WAGES

Representatives of all the wage earners employed by the city of Lowell—police, firemen, lands and buildings department, street, sewer men and all others, held a large and very enthusiastic meeting in the Trades and Labor hall yesterday afternoon. It was voted that the body take joint action in an endeavor to get the city council to grant their demands for a 15 per cent increase in wages.

Previous individual attempts have been made to secure better wages, but it was the unanimous opinion of those present that united action was necessary to bring results. The committee agreed to keep close tabs on the actions of the government, and if no move is made to grant the demands of the wage earners, a big protest meeting will later be held in Associate hall.

Continued

Council assumed such broad powers that Maj. Gen. Goethals, former chief of the purchase, storage and traffic division of the war department, defied it; cabinet members protested against its advice, and Judge Gary, president of the United States Steel Corporation, accused it of operating in "flagrant violation of law."

Reversed Intent of Congress

Mr. Graham declared the president created the "secret government" by ignoring and reversing the intent of congress in authorizing the establishment of a council of national defense in August, 1916. As authorized by congress, he said, the council was to be composed of six members of the cabinet who were to be the real executives and seven civilians to be selected by the president who were to act in a purely advisory capacity. Instead of doing this, Mr. Graham asserted, the president made the advisory commission the real executives, "clothing them with unprecedented and almost illimitable powers."

Designed All War Measures

"Behind closed doors, weeks and even months before war was declared," he said, "these seven men designed practically every war measure which congress subsequently enacted. They devised the entire system of purchasing war supplies, planned a press censorship, designed a system of food control, and selected Herbert Hoover as its director, and even determined on the daylight saving scheme."

Carried Things With "High Hand"

"Conceived within the law, but brought into existence in absolute violation of the law, it is not surprising to find this secret government of the United States itself persistently ignored and even violated the law; that it allowed interested parties to fix the price of war supplies; that it put the people of the country to incalculable unnecessary expense and carried things with a high hand."

Mr. Graham declared that when Maj. Gen. Goethals was called "on the eleventh hour to rescue the war department from the public obloquy which was fast settling upon it as a result of the methods and incapacity of the commission, he repudiated and practically defied it."

Soldiers Died For Lack of Clothing

"Our soldiers were actually dying of pneumonia in the camps because of the lack of proper clothing and blankets," Mr. Graham said, "and General Goethals assumed the duties of quartermaster general only on condition he should have free scope in the performance of his duties, unhampered by the council of national defense."

"Immediately he took from the members of that council their power to order purchases and fix prices and soon dispensed with the services of those members of three advisory commissions who had so deplorably bungled the control of the supplies for the army."

Operate in Violation of Laws

Judge Gary advised the advisory commission, Mr. Graham said, that it was operating in disregard of the Sherman law, the Clayton law, "and all other statutes that are supposed to regulate business, particularly big business."

When the attorney general was called upon by the commission to answer Judge Gary, Mr. Graham said, he answered that the matters referred to as violations of law were matters of "national policy" rather than a legal question.

"Afterwards," Mr. Graham declared, "when there was evidently a discussion in congress as to the illegality of members of the committee of the council buying from themselves, the council discussed this general policy, and it was suggested that this embarrassment might be removed by the plan of the committee re-organization now under consideration.

"The minutes show that on account of this so-called embarrassment the war industries board was created, and committees were appointed by the national chamber of commerce so the letter of the law might be complied with, but by which scheme no part of the method of buying was changed on the slightest degree so far as I can observe."

Formulated Legislation Before War

Citing cases in which he said the council formulated legislation before war was declared, which legislation later was considered by congress, Mr. Graham declared that on Feb. 15, 1917, the council discussed the system and considered a report from Commissioners Samuel Gompers and Howard E. Coffin relative to the exclusion of labor from military service, on the same day recommended that Herbert Hoover be employed by the government in connection with food control, and on March 3 endorsed the daylight saving scheme and recommended a federal censorship of the press.

Selling to Government Direct

"About the first thing the commission did was to take up the matter of arranging an easy method of communication between the manufacturers and the government," Mr. Graham continued. "In several meetings long before war was declared, the commission met with the representatives of the manufacturing industries and formed an organization of them for selling supplies to the government."

"This method consisted of having the representatives of various businesses producing goods which the government would have to buy from themselves in committees so they might be able to sell to the government direct. When war was declared, this machinery began to move."

"Big Business" Highly Organized

"Although this scheme was supposed to enable the industries to deal with the governments as one man, the government was at no time able to deal with the industries through one man, and on the contrary throughout the war numerous federal bureaus were biddling against each other for the same supplies, with greatly increased cost to the government. Under the ministrations of the council 'big business' was highly organized while the government remained wholly disorganized and incapable of preparing itself against flagrant profiteering."

Mr. Graham concluded his statement by saying so far as he had been able to observe from the minutes of the council, there had not been an act of the so-called war legislation which had not been discussed and settled upon by the council's advisory commission before the actual declaration of war. At times, he said, "the activities of the commission were such as greatly to embarrass the cabinet and it became necessary for the cabinet to protest against them."

IDEAL WEATHER FOR PLAYGROUND OPENING
Ideal summer weather, contrastingly acceptable from the brand dealt out during the latter part of last week, marked the opening of the 1919 playground season in this city under the auspices of the park commission today.

The playgrounds have three locations this summer, the North and South commons and the Chambers street grounds. The North common and Chamber street grounds got underway at 9 o'clock this morning, according to schedule, but owing to the large amount of debris on the South common resultant from the midway on the Fourth of July, the playground here will not open until tomorrow morning.

The playground season will continue for eight weeks or until Thursday, Aug. 28, when closing exercises will be held. Through the courtesy of Agents Mitchell, Wadleigh, Milliken and Rawlinson of the local mills, 100 yards of percale, gingham or chambray has been received from each of their concerns to be used by the girls for sewing.

The equipment of the various grounds is up to the standards of other years with plenty of bats, balls, gloves and other sporting facilities. On the North common there is a battery of 50 swings and on the South common and Chambers street grounds 40 swings each.

The sessions will be held every Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from 9 a. m. to 11:15 a. m. and from 2 to 4:30 p. m.

The instructors in charge of the boys are all veterans of the world war and are planning to introduce calisthenics, exercises and games modeled after the exercises of the army. All the instructors will work full time every day and not part time as has been the case in previous years.

The instructors on the North common are Thomas F. Pyne and the Misses Grace McEue, Natalie M. McQuaid, Helen Castles, and Mae Sullivan. On the South common they are William McKay, T. L. Conway and the Misses Louise F. Mahoney, Muriel Leach, Charlotte Green and Harriet McAlmon. On Chambers street the supervisors are John E. Laurenson, Miss Mary Rildan and Miss Anne E. Reynolds.

The shower baths at the Eliot school will be in charge of Charles McCabe.

The league has had gifts of skin painting and printing from local concerns engaged in that sort of work. The program of sing, one of which will be held every Tuesday evening throughout the summer months, embraces every part of the city. They will be rallying points in the interest of community betterment and Americanization, and are sure to become extremely popular.

The committee which has planned the series includes: Mrs. Luther Faulkner and Mrs. C. B. Redway, representing the Girls Friendly society; Miss Grace Stokham and Miss Maude Davis, representing the Girl Scouts; Miss Elizabeth Haggerty, representing the Catholic sodalities; Miss Frances McNair, representing the Y.W.C.A.; Miss Helen Barnes, representing the International Institute; Miss May Levine, representing the Y.W.H.A.; Miss Winifred Loughridge, representing the Community Service club, and Miss Catherine representing the Camp Fire Girls.

Recreational Work
Miss Louise Jennison of this city, Radcliffe college class of 1920, has been secured by the Community Service club as assistant recreational director during the summer. Miss Jennison's college activities and accomplishments make her an admirable choice. During her three years at Radcliffe she has served as president of the college dramatic club, was class song leader and played on the varsity basketball and hockey teams. She will work with Miss Cronin, recreational leader.

The tennis and baseball classes and instruction at the Normal school grounds in Broadway will carry on in full vigor this week. Classes will be held on Wednesday and Thursday evenings and on Tuesday and Saturday afternoons. It will not be necessary for the class girls to first report at the rooms in the Rufus building but, rather, they are asked to be at the Normal school at the scheduled hours.

MOREY SCHOOL MUDDLE

The public property department is at present involved in somewhat of a muddle over the Morey school problem. For some years past the Highland district has been in great need of better school accommodations and accordingly it has been decided to build an 18-room addition to the present Morey school. It is proposed also to make certain improvements on the old building which, if carried out, would entail very considerable expense. The available appropriation for the project so far as can be learned, is $150,000. Recently bids were called for on the plans providing for the changes in the old structure and the construction of the new. The lowest bid was $311,000 which indicates that the plans must be radically modified or else the greater part of the repairs on the old building will have to be abandoned for the present. Commissioner Marchand must learn to cut his coat according to his cloth. Why submit plans calling for an expenditure practically double the amount available?

It seems to us that what should be done in regard to the matter is to separate the work on the old building from that of the new so that the contracts could be figured on separately. It would then be definitely known what this 18-room building would cost and how much would be left for repairs on the old building. The property department could then proceed intelligently within its resources in carrying out repairs on the old building. It can be readily imagined how very easy it would be under present conditions to expend almost the price of a new building upon remodeling an old one. It is to be hoped that Commissioner Marchand will adopt a different method of figuring upon the work to be done so that he can keep within his appropriation and at the same time make the best possible use of the funds set apart for providing better school accommodations for the Morey school district.

THE NEW CHAMPION

Of all the versions of the Willard-Dempsey fight, that which charges Willard with "laying down" to Dempsey is the most unreasonable. Does the tree that falls before the hurricane in the forest lie down for safety? To assume so would be as sensible as to charge Willard with cowardice and dishonor. If Willard wanted to give Dempsey the prize he could have done so without getting the worst beating ever given a pugilist in the prize ring in any fight however long. No, the fact is that "Jess" for the first time in his life met a phenomenal fighter, a human dynamo, master of ring science and whose blow has the force of a trip hammer. That Willard stood 67 such blows while succeeding in landing only eleven shows that his grilling was not of his own volition. Willard retires well fixed as he never squandered his money as did most of the other champions. He can now enjoy it in peace, having been separated from the championship in a record making battle.

THE GERMAN CULPRITS

It has been decided that Holland will be asked to extradite the ex-emperor of Germany and that he will be tried in London on the charges of violating international law in the progress of the war waged by the central powers against the allies. It appears that the idea of executing the ex-kaiser has been abandoned and as we have already suggested, that is the best course to follow. The allies could not safely allow the former kaiser to enjoy his liberty so that he might continue to plot trouble and possibly future wars. The world will breathe easier when Wilhelm is safely incarcerated in some lonely island like St. Helena.

What will be done with some of the other offenders such as the crown prince, Admiral Von Tirpitz, Bethmann Hollweg, Hindenberg and others has not yet been determined, but there is one man above all others who deserves to be executed and that is Admiral Von Tirpitz, the chief author, instigator, leader and director of the ruthless submarine warfare whose motto was "sink without a trace." Yes, Tirpitz should be taken out to sea, placed upon the deck of a submarine which should then be submerged, leaving him to drown as many of his victims were drowned during the war. Von Tirpitz and Bethmann Hollweg will stand prominent among the German offenders; but for intrigue, deceit and downright treachery not one is more culpable than Bernstorff. Old Hindenberg claims that he was responsible for policies attributed to the ex-emperor. Hindle is willing to be the goat but he cannot deceive the allied leaders as to where the real responsibility for the ruthless German policy lay. To hold the German culprits to strict personal accountability will have a good effect in the future in restraining would-be rulers and pirates masquerading as world reformers.

SAVE THE BABIES

Very hot weather even of brief duration usually lays the foundation of many cases of sickness among young children to develop into cholera infantum later. During the hot spell many little ones are exposed to the intense heat of the sun to such an extent that they become sick and unable to take food. That condition under unskilled treatment will in many cases develop into cholera infantum which unless promptly checked will end fatally. It is now quite safe to predict that as a result of the hot spell, now happily over, there will be a crop of perhaps fifty deaths of little ones throughout the city.

It should be unnecessary to advise the parents to keep the little ones cool, take them out into the cool shade of trees either in the parks or the suburbs. Do not let the increased car fare deter you from taking them to a cool place. Carfare is cheaper than doctors' bills and the cool air in the shade of the pines better than the doctors' medicine in the city; and this is no reflection on the doctors. They will advise keeping the little ones cool and taking them to the woods in a hot spell if it is possible there to get them the food they require. Many a death results from failure to call a doctor before the disease has reached a dangerous stage.

HEALTH PROBLEMS

Life insurance reports indicate that more persons die of pneumonia than any other disease. It used to be supposed that pneumonia germs were taken into the lungs with the air we breathe, but certain medical authorities now say that they are taken in with the food we eat and work their way into the lungs through the blood.

But, be all this as it may, it has been pretty well proven by the microscope that we are all the while coming in contact with all sorts of disease germs through touch, breathing, eating and drinking; that it is not how many nor the kind we take in, but rather our power to resist them.

And this power of resistance depends upon the state of our general health. While we are from time to time visited with epidemics in the way of diseases, yet it is a well known fact that the majority of persons are not affected by them.

The germ of the disease epidemic is all the while flying about and it is simply the power of resistance of those not affected over those who are affected.

While this does not mean that sanitary laws, nor the laws of personal health should be neglected, yet the state of mind has a good deal to do with the power to resist disease.

The fear of disease lowers the power to resist disease.

At the time of these epidemics we all read and hear their symptoms until we imagine we have the disease—our powers of resistance are lowered to a point of succumbing.

It is a well known fact that when medical students first begin reading books on physical diagnosis that they imagine they have many of the diseases described in them.

An English humorist once said that after reading a medical book that he had every disease in the calendar, including housemaid's knee.

A continued fear or belief in a disease will no doubt finally affect the body through the mind and to a lowered power of resistance, just as most of us have noticed that a sudden fright or fit of anger will, for a time, have a very manifest effect upon the body through the digestive functions.

BRITISH DIRIGIBLE'S FEAT

The arrival of the R-34 on the coast of this continent after a non-stop flight across the Atlantic from Scotland is an event of great importance to the world. It marks a distinct advance in aviation and so far as present indications go the dirigible is a form of airship most likely to come into general use for transatlantic freight carrying purposes. It may not be necessary to have each particular airship as large as the R-34 but it is quite likely that smaller types of the same class can be used with greater speed and satisfactory carrying capacity. The art of aviation from the present moment is sure to go forward with leaps and bounds until some day not far distant, we shall see daily air service across the Atlantic.

The Boston Globe in offering the information that eleven states have ratified the suffrage amendment says this number includes the state of Missouri which has been "shown." Many of our eastern states don't care a hoot whether Missouri decided to ratify or not. Apart from having nurtured Gen. Pershing and Champ Clark, what has Missouri done to brag about?

When we learn that the Texas legislature wants to have the United States go to war with Mexico and we realize that not only is Austin, Texas, five times as hot as New England, but that northern Mexico is five times as hot as Austin, we wonder if those Texas legislators have any sense of temperature anyhow.

One of the things that gives encouragement and hope that nickel fares may sometime return, is the announcement that by decapitating the heads of four big executives, the Bay State trustees estimate they will save $250,000 a year.

He Got On Another

"Well, they say I do," replied the man with the monocle.

Almost the Speed Limit

"At Chattanooga," said a veteran of the Civil war, "one of the men in my command left early in the action and no one saw him until after the battle, when he appeared in camp unwounded and unabashed. Some of the boys accused him of running away, but he wouldn't admit it."

"I only retreated in good order," he declared.

"I heard of the matter, and a few days later I asked him if he had any idea how fast he had 'retreated'."

"Well, I'll tell you, cap'n," he said.

Booze King's Swan Song

There's a plaintive note of sadness in the music of the trees.

There's a murmuring on the south wind

And a whispering in the breeze.

Each fragrant flower of summer has dropped its pretty head

And the crickets chirp the whole night long

For Tom and Jerry's dead.

The skies of old Kentucky

Somewhat seem drab and gray

While the bluegrass in the meadows

Has packed their grips and fled

For life's not worth the living now

That Miss Mint Julep's dead.

There's a black crepe on the doorknob

Of Casey Jones' saloon.

And Casey's last his happy smile.

His heart is filled with gloom.

The gaps that once hung 'round all night

Are at home in bed

A-grieving over their bitter loss

For old Budweiser's dead.

There's an aristocratic clubroom

Down on Fifth avenue

Where joy and mirth once reigned supreme.

But now the place seems blue.

The members are in mourning

And bitter tears are shed;

Nights are long and lonely there

Since old King Whiskey's dead.

The chorus girl and soubrette

Are in despair and woe,

For after-theatre parties are

Second of last year.

How wistfully they now regret

The word they left unsaid,

For millionaires are hard to catch

Since Miss Champagne is dead.

So everywhere there seems to be

An undertone of grief,

And at the close of every thing

We're gasping for relief.

We'll all drink Coco-Colas soon

Instead of wine that's red,

For all the states have gone bone dry

And old King Booze is dead.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

July 4th was a very hot day, probably one of the few hottest of the entire year. The sufferings of the people throughout the city were in many cases intensified by the total lack of ice. The Gage company, for some unaccountable reason having failed to supply its customers as well as it usually does. Perhaps the demands were exceedingly great or perhaps the men and horses were overcome by the heat, but the shortage of ice was particularly felt in families having small children, where food had to be kept fresh. The ice men made their trips but on a good part of their routes they had no ice to sell. The consequences on a day like Friday cannot easily be estimated. Perhaps the demand was so abnormal that the rule of first come first served left many to be overlooked.

HER LAST APPEAL FOR LEAGUE OF NATIONS

NEW YORK, July 7.—Dr. Anna Howard Shaw's last message to the women of her country was an appeal for the League of Nations. The manuscript, much of it in Dr. Shaw's own handwriting, was received here last Tuesday at the national headquarters of the League to Enforce Peace and is now in the printer's hands for publication.

Dr. Shaw was a member of the national executive committee of the league and one of the first women elected to office in that organization. She took an active part in the league's campaign for ratification of the Paris covenant, and her friends believe that her enthusiasm for the league caused her to overtax her strength during the trip she made last May with ex-President Taft and other leading supporters of the covenant, traveling every night and speaking every day at a series of league conventions. She was stricken with pneumonia at Springfield, Ill., when the trip was half over.

In the manuscript received here Dr. Shaw says:

"Everybody must die, sometime; and it does not make as much difference, perhaps, as to the number of days we live as it does to the manner in which we live the days we do live."

Dr. Shaw's statement, which probably represents her last work before the relapse which caused her death on Wednesday, is entitled "What the War Meant to Women." In it she makes an impassioned plea for the establishment of a League of Nations for permanent peace and calls upon the women in the United States to use all their influence to bring about the ratification of the league covenant. Following are some of Dr. Shaw's most striking sentences:

"We know that men are ready to die in war; but there are a great many things harder than to die. There are some things that are worth a great deal more than life, and one thing which was worth more than life to the men who went out and laid down their lives for their countries, was not to leave a dishonored nation, a nation unworthy of the civilization of our time, a nation which had no heart to feel and no understanding to realize the conditions of intimate association between nation and nation and the obligation which one nation has to care for and sympathize with another."

"While Mr. Wilson said we want nothing out of the war, I said in my own heart: 'It may be that we want nothing material out of the war, but, oh, we want the biggest thing out of this war that has ever come to the world. We want peace now and peace forever.'"

"If we cannot get that peace out of this war, what hope is there that it will ever come to humanity? Was there ever such a chance offered to the world before? Was there ever a time when the peoples of all nations looked towards America as they are looking today, because of our unselfishness in our dealings with them during the war?"

"The treaty of peace which has been submitted to the Germans I think is the most marvelous document in the world, and I have been wondering how many hundred men it took to think up all the demands they put into that peace pact."

"We must look facts in the face. All humanity is one. The world is one. And no nation can suffer unless all nations suffer. No nation can prosper without all nations prospering. We have got to take facts as they are and we have got to find out the best thing we can have. The best thing that has been given us and the only thing we have before us is this League of Nations. We have no other League of Nations. We have only this one. We must take this one or no one can tell what will come. We have no midway point. We have no purgatory. We have to choose either heaven or hell. We must take it or we must reject it."

"Oh, men, we women, the mothers of the race, have given everything, have suffered everything, have sacrificed everything, and we come to you now and say, 'The time has come when we will no longer sit quietly by and hear and rear sons to die at the will of a few men. We will not endure it! We will not endure it! We demand that either you shall do something to prevent war or that we shall be permitted to try to do something ourselves.'"

"Could there be any cowardice, could there be any injustice, could there be any wrong, greater than to refuse to hear the voice of a woman expressing the will of women at the peace table of the world and then for men not to provide a way by which the women of the future shall not be robbed of their sons as the women of the past have been?"

"To you men we look for support. We look for your support back of your senators and from this day until the day when the League of Nations is accepted and ratified by the senate of the United States, it should be the duty of every man and every woman to see to it that the senators from their state know the will of the people; that they know that the people wills that something shall be done, even though not perfect; that there shall be a beginning, from which we shall construct something more perfect by and by; that the will of the people shall be the basis of all action."

IN MISERY FOR YEARS

Mrs. Courtney Tells How She Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Oskaloosa, Iowa.—"For years I was simply in misery from a weakness and nothing seemed to do me any good. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and got relief right away. I can certainly recommend this valuable medicine to other women who suffer, for it has done such good work for me and I know it will help others if they will give it a fair trial."

Mrs. LIZZIE COURTNEY, 105 8th Ave., West, Oskaloosa, Iowa.

Why will women drag along from day to day, year in and year out, suffering such misery as did Mrs. Courtney, when such letters as this are continually being published. Every woman who suffers from displacements, irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, backache, nervousness, or who is passing through the Change of Life should give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial.

The letters constantly being published from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

TWO BOYS SAVE THREE GIRLS FROM DROWNING HONORABLE DISCHARGE IMPRESSIVE SERVICE AT CLEMENCEAU VISITS FLAG OF ABYSSINIA BURN BUILDINGS HELD 1200 LEATHER WORKERS STRIKE AT WORCESTER

BOSTON, July 7.—Three girls of Medford, Mildred Ardine, 17, 54 Hancock avenue; Catherine Kane, 17, 8 Crescent street, and Mary Robinson, 17, 19 Crescent street, narrowly escaped death by drowning about noon yesterday as they were attempting to swim across the Mystic river from a point just off Mystic avenue at the rear of Combination park.

They were rescued in a most spectacular manner by three Medford young men, who brought them ashore in an exhausted condition. The rescuers were George McLean, of 17 Billings avenue, Henry S. Coughlin, 78 Wareham street, and Richard L. Roby, 104 Bowdoin street.

As the girls were crossing the stream, Miss Ardine, who was in the lead, suddenly became exhausted as she reached the middle of the river and began to sink. Her companions went to her rescue and a little later all three were struggling together and rapidly losing strength. There were several hundred bathers on the shore of the river at the time and the three young men plunged hurriedly into the stream and swam to the assistance of the girls. They reached them as they were sinking and bore them to the shore. A pumpmotor was brought from the Medford police station and Dr. A. D. Guthrie, who also was hurriedly summoned to the scene, revived the girls.

MAYOR IN THE AIR INSTEAD OF COTTON

Mayor Perry D. Thompson has sent a complaint to Capt. Charles J. Glidden of the United States air service regarding the sudden cancellation of the proposition to transport a bale of cotton from Americus, Ga., to this city by airplane and have it manufactured into cloth here. The mayor pointed out in his letter that the Merrimack Mfg. Co. had had special rolls for printing the cloth manufactured at an expense of $75 and he says that the sudden cancellation of the flight put him in an embarrassing position both in the eyes of the public and of the Merrimack Co.

Capt. Glidden has replied to the complaint and states that the cancellation was due to some cause unknown to him. His part in the project was merely to look after the arrangements. His reply is as follows:

TEN CENT FARE AS VIEWED ELSEWHERE

According to replies received from the boards of trade and chambers of commerce in various cities served by the former Bay State Street Railway Co., the Lowell board of trade is not due to receive extensive co-operation in its proposal to enter a formal protest against the ten-cent fare schedule adopted July 1.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the board, held early last week, it was voted to instruct the secretary to ask other commercial organizations in communities served by the railway company their opinion on the matter of protest. The Lawrence chamber of commerce comes out very strongly in favor of the increase and says it would favor a 15-cent fare if such procedure would result in the rehabilitation of the road. Three other organizations have replied that owing to the fact that the company is now in the hands of public trustees it would not be feasible to make a protest.

Wilson To Speak Thursday

trip around the country to speak for the peace treaty and the League of Nations. There are indications, however, that he probably will not leave before the middle of next week. He was invited by wireless to deliver his first address to the Methodist centenary in Columbus, Ohio, but he replied that he felt it was impossible for him to leave Washington before the centenary ended next Sunday.

Numerous invitations have been extended from various sections of the country, but none had been accepted. It was explained that the itinerary had not been determined finally upon.

When the president reaches Washington late tomorrow night he will find an accumulation of official business awaiting his attention. Bills awaiting his signature include the sundry civil measure, with the shipping board and other huge appropriations; the army measure, the navy bill, the agriculture bill with its rider repealing the daylight saving law, the deficiency bill and the vocational educational measure.

Six members of the cabinet will greet the president at New York and accompany him to Washington. They will leave Washington this afternoon and will go to sea tomorrow on the Battleship Pennsylvania to meet the George Washington. In the party will be Secretaries Baker, Daniels, Glass, Lane and Wilson and Attorney General Palmer.

President Wilson is due to reach Washington between 10 and 11 o'clock tomorrow night. He will be met by a number of government officials and a committee of Washington citizens. After brief welcoming ceremonies at the union station he will go direct to the White House.

ANOTHER TROLLEY STRIKE POSSIBLE

Although officials of the local union of street railway men have heard of no action, it is reported that the trustees of the Eastern Massachusetts Railway Co., formerly the Bay State, have been given until today to sign articles of arbitration submitted to them by a committee representing the joint conference board of the 17 unions of the street carmen, or face a tie-up of the entire system that will be more complete than the general strike of two weeks ago.

When questioned this noon, Thomas J. Powers, president of Local 230, said he did not know a thing about it and seriously doubted its truth.

It is further said that wage demands, in addition to the articles of arbitration will be pressed at the conference with the trustees which is scheduled for today. Since the strike was called off two weeks ago repeated conferences have been held between committees representing the men and the company and both sides have presented questions for joint arbitration.

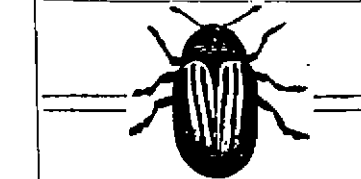

If another strike is called it will be much more serious and far-reaching than the recent one for it will be under the sanction of the International and the southern as well as the northern districts of the company's system will be involved and car service in a score of towns will again be crippled.

KANFOUSH STILL UNCONSCIOUS

Still unconscious from the alleged attack made upon him Thursday evening, Samuel Kanfoush, 27 Adams street, was reported by the authorities at the Lowell hospital today to be in a critical condition, and small hopes for his recovery are given. Kanfoush was brought to the hospital late Thursday evening, suffering apparently from concussion of the brain.

About 75 service men attended the high mass that was celebrated in their honor at the Lakeview chapel yesterday morning while the congregation at the service numbered over 1000. A feature of the service was the blessing of two memorial flags, which at the close of the mass were presented to Mrs. Helen Quinn and Mrs. Philip O'Brien as a token to the memory of their sons, Corp. Edward Quinn and Corp. John A. O'Brien, who died in the service, the former in France and the latter in Texas.

Shortly before 10 o'clock the service men, some attired in khaki, others in blue and a number in white, assembled at the pavilion and formed for the procession, which was scheduled to be held prior to the mass. John McQuade acted as color bearer and the escort to the colors consisted of Sgt. Wood, Sgt. Killoy and Corp. Fahey. They were followed by the service men, and then came the following delegations: Knights of Columbus, Grand Knight Robert Thomas, District Deputy Chas. Landers, Andrew Molloy, John Hayes, Dr. Timothy Reardon, Albert Rogers and Leo Murphy. Holy Name society of St. Patrick's; Jeremiah Ryan, John J. McDermott, William Pendergast, Frank McGarraghan, John J. Sullivan and Timothy Rohan. C.Y.M.L.; John J. Flannery, William Connelly, John Mesban and Joseph Hessman.

The uniformed men were headed by Lieut. Lynch, Ensign O'Brien, Chief Petty Officer David Martin and Chief Petty Officer Charles Smith and Chief Petty Officer Frederick Webster.

Following the society delegations was the cross bearer, James Flannery, a K. of C. secretary and he was followed by the acolytes, Privates John A. O'Connor and Edward Nelligan. The servants of the mass came next. They were Lieut. John Bolan and Sgt. Thomas Delmore. The officiating clergyman, Rev. Michael C. Gilbride, pastor, came next and after him followed the congregation.

The marchers walked around the pavilion and into the chapel, where the mass was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Gilbride, who also delivered a brief sermon, dealing with the great service rendered the country by the valiant young men who were attending the service. Fr. Gilbride extended them his compliments and also paid a glowing tribute to the memory of the young men who gave up their lives for the cause of democracy.

The altar had been beautifully decorated with the national colors, while a row of rifles on the altar added greatly to the military effect of the service. During the mass Miss Vera Moody sang Millard's "Ave Maria," while Miss Moody and Mr. James King rendered in a duet, "Panem de Coelo" by Terzani. Mr. James King sang Marz's "Ave Maria." Miss Leona Spellman presided at the organ, while the violinists were Miss Catherine Burke, Thos. Hannan and Thomas Dowd.

At the close of the mass the memorial flags were blessed by Rev. Fr. Gilbride and presented to Messdames Quinn and O'Brien by Lieut. John Bolan and Sgt. Thomas Delmore. The arrangements for the procession were in charge of Rev. Fr. Gilbride and John F. Golden.

MORE POWER TO THE SUN SAY TRAFFIC COPS

The new "no parking" signs, which The Sun pointed out were badly needed in the downtown sections of the city and which were recently put into use by the city government in the Merrimack square district, are making a big hit with the traffic cops, who emphatically declare that they are just about the best thing that ever happened.

Whereas formerly life for the officers was mostly made up of chasing one out-of-town autoist after another and breaking the news to him that he was violating the ordinance by parking his car where he should not, under the new order of things, the traffic men are putting in their time to greater advantage in directing the stream of traffic which flows through the downtown section daily.

"More power to The Sun," said one of the city's best known traffic officers today. "The new signs are a great thing, and should have been in use long ago."

NOT MUCH DOING IN POLICE COURT

Police court was a quiet place today, possibly because of the recent demise of John Barleycorn, or maybe because it was too hot over the week-end to cut up rough. But be that as it may, the docket presented a bare and forlorn appearance when Clerk Carroll called the roll, and a few moments were sufficient for Judge Fisher to dispose of the day's list.

Two drunks, who claimed that Jamaica ginger was directly responsible for their appearance, were first called. One of them, William White, who came down from New Hampshire to weekend in the Spindle City, was given a suspended sentence to the state farm on condition that he hurry back home. The other man drew down a suspended sentence to the house of correction.

The cases of John Barlas and Demetrios Karelas, charged with assault and battery on Aristides Georgeopoulos, were continued until July 23, and pleas of not guilty entered.

PARIS, Sunday, July 6.—Premier Clemenceau today began a visit to the devastated regions, entering the zone of protracted warfare at St. Quentin. Everywhere he was given a splendid welcome. He encouraged the people to question him and bring forward any complaints which they had to make, and they were not slow in doing so.

In addressing the population of St. Quentin, he declared that, now that peace was concluded, the work of reconstruction and reform would be begun.

"The difficulties we meet at every step," he said, "cannot be resolved by old rules. New methods must be found for new requirements, and we must, above all, learn to use that free individual initiative which the republic must strive to develop. It is not good practice for a democratic country to leave everything to the government."

"You will have to rebuild your homes and perhaps the habit thus acquired by the Frenchman of depending on himself to make the effort will contribute to still further democracies of our country. You must not think that peace is a contract which ends all difficulties. No country escapes the law of work, existence, and it is for you to make them bear fruit and to extract from them all benefits. One of the advantages of peace is that it is based on the union of peoples who have saved the world. We each have need of the other. Barbarism is definitely destroyed, but only on condition that we all see to it that the stipulations of the treaty are executed."

SOMETHING ABOUT RAIN AND SKIRTS

Thrifty Lowell housewives got some material assistance from Dame Nature in their war on old high cost of living yesterday, for they found that the downpour from the heavens was of such a degree of warmth that it required but a few seconds of fire, instead of minutes to get it right for the dishes, and many had pails and pans exposed to the showers during the day. In some sections of the city the housewives even had the former beer kegs, with an end knocked through, for gathering water.

Although a little cooler, the showers caused some discomfort, as clothes stuck to the body and there was a little less ambition displayed by the critics around Merrimack square than on Saturday, perhaps because of lack of sunshine to display the worth of diaphanous skirts.

LOCAL SHOE SHOPS AND THE UNIONS

Ellsworth Melanson of Salem, district organizer for the Allied Shoe Workers, who has been conducting organization work among Lowell shoe workers for six months, states that negotiations with the management of the Barry Shoe Co. had progressed satisfactorily enough so that today the company announced its willingness to recognize the union and will hereafter discuss matters affecting wages, hours of work and other matters connected with employment at the plant, with a union shop committee. The members of this committee for the Barry plant are: Edwin Preston, John King and Mrs. Kate Tweed.

The shop committee will hold a conference with the Barry management tomorrow and present a wage and time scale. Organization work, Melanson said today, was completed so far as the plants of the Pilling company, Federal, Foster and Spaulding companies were concerned, and by the middle of the week, the managements of these factories will be invited to recognize shop committees and to consider employment conditions with a view of readjustment, which it is believed may result for the betterment of the employer as well as the worker.

GERMAN RAILWAY STRIKERS RETURN

FRANKFURT, Sunday, July 6. (By the Associated Press).—The railway strikers, who have held up train service in southern and western Germany, decided today to resume work, but insisted that their demands be met. They will be ready for united action in case the government's decision is adverse.

POINCARÉ PRESENTS CROSS TO RHEIMS

PARIS, Sunday, July 6.—President Poincaré accompanied by several senators and deputies, went to Rheims today and presented the city with the Cross of the Legion of Honor. The decoration was bestowed, he said, in addressing the people, "in solemn homage to the heroism of your great city."

Do You Grave Sweets?

A Very Choice Syrup of Tempting Taste

Domino Golden Syrup is different from any syrup you ever tasted. So good you can drink it—so wholesome you can eat all you like! And never tire of it.

And of rare "crack" and savory flavored with just a dash of delicate cane (taste)—but not over-sweet—and not too "brackish."

A table delicacy for every meal of every day. Ask your grocer for Domino Golden Syrup. It is made by the American Sugar Refining Company, refiners of Domino Packaged Sugars—Granulated, Tablet, Powdered, Confectioners, Brown.—Adv.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The flag of Abyssinia, one of the world's oldest governments, with a history dating back to the queen of Sheba, was unfurled in Washington today on the arrival of a delegation from that nation.

The mission consists of three members and came to present President Wilson in congratulations of their country on the victory of the allied and associated governments. It also has gifts for President Wilson.

DUTCH STILL ENFORCE WAR-TIME RULES

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao, Sunday, July 6.—The American coastguard vessel Itasca came here yesterday and will leave today under the provision of the Dutch neutrality regulations prohibiting war vessels of belligerent nations from remaining in port more than 24 hours.

This indicates that the Dutch government at Willemstad is still enforcing war-time regulations.

WILD ADVANCES IN THE CORN MARKET

CHICAGO, July 7.—Nervousness by shorts led to wild advances today in the corn market. All deliveries jumped to the highest levels yet this season. Continued record breaking upturns in hogs did much to stimulate belief that corn would ascend, especially as arrivals of corn here were expected to diminish soon to a material extent. Opening prices, which ranged from quarter cent off to 1½ cent advance, with September 18½¢ to 18½¢ and December 16½¢ to 16½¢, were followed by a slight sag, and then by a radical advance all around, including 7 cents for July to 1.34.

Oats opened ½ lower to ½ cents gain.

DOGS NAMED AFTER WORLD WAR HEROES

How would you like several millions of men to leave their homes and families and engage in bloody conflict for four years to provide you a suitable front name?

Never gave it a thought, you probably say. Well, neither did we. We're satisfied with our front name and we got it before the big scrap "over there" too. To tell the truth, we had a name tied on to us several years before we knew anything about it and then we had to take it as it was. "Non-exchangeable" was written all over it and it's been one of the most constant companions of our whole life. No matter how dark things may look, staunch old friend name clings to us with dogged loyalty.

And speaking of "dogged" brings us around to the reason why this yarn is being jazzed on our spinning wheel. We wanted to talk about dogs in the first place but unconsciously seemed to get ourselves mixed into that category. To be militarily explicit, our subject is "Dogs' Names as Affected by Four Years of Strife."

Many a local hound is today sporting the name of some great hero of the big conflict, if the statements given by their owners at the city clerk's office are correctly interpreted. Just think, General Pershing has a namesake over in Centralville in the person of a great dane owned by Charles L. Randall of 98 15th street. General Byng, the famous English general, also provided the names for two Lowell dogs.

The most popular name for dogs in this city, according to the names given in connection with the licenses issued so far this year is "Teddy," undoubtedly after the late Theodore Roosevelt. "Ted" or "Teddy" appears no less than 45 times in the license book and is far and away ahead of other names. Its nearest rival is "Major," another military name, which appears an even dozen times. "Captain" appears twice.

Lyla A. Brown of 169 Merrimack street and Mrs. W. A. Read of 223 Liberty street both hit on the name "Tipperary" of early war days fame for the dogs under their care.

The Salvation Army lassies are not forgotten either, for there are three "Sallys" in the list.

Joseph McNamara of 572 Middlesex street took advantage of the signing of the armistice by naming his Scotch collie "Victory." There is also a "Victor" noted in the list.

The lamented Lord Kitchener is responsible for the name of a dog owned by Joseph Whiteside of 53 Dana st. Whether their owners realized the significance of their act or whether their dogs were christened before the outbreak of the world war is debatable, but the fact remains that there is at least one "Kaiser" in the lot and a couple of "Fritzs" besides. Perhaps they'll be re-named. Just imagine what might happen if "General Pershing" should accidentally bump into "Kaiser." There'd be more than a mere tail-wagging exchange of compliments!

Getting away from the war theme for the moment, it is interesting to note what odd names are picked out for members of the barking species. Here are a few of them: "Topsy, Jr.," "John Bull," "Hondini," "Spoke," "Muggins," "Brook," "Washington," "Toodles," "Rex," "Sic Em," "Mr. Dooley," "Plover," "Mischiefs" and "Spinach."

HIGH RENTS FORCE ROMANS TO SEEK REFUGE IN TUFO ROCKS

ROME, June 23.—(Correspondent of the Associated Press) Rents have been so high that some Romans have sought refuge in the tufo rocks. All efforts of the municipal police to eject them have failed. The cave men would go away, but return as soon as the eyes of the police were in another direction.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, July 7.—Costa Rican government troops, according to reports received here, have burned the buildings at Pena Blanca which were occupied by the Costa Rican revolutionists.

Pena Blanca is in southwestern Nicaragua about two miles north of the Costa Rican frontier.

NO MONEY TO REACH THE WHEAT FIELDS

As a result of an announcement published in the local newspapers to the effect that a great number of men were wanted to harvest wheat crops at Wichita, Kan., at a wage between $6 and $7 a day, over two hundred applications have been received at the Lowell War Camp Community club in Dutton street, but most of the men who turned in their application are without funds and unable to pay their expenses to Wichita. Mr. Douzner of the club took the matter up with national headquarters this morning and was instructed to telegraph to the mayor of Wichita in an endeavor to have the city of Wichita or some enterprising farmers of that place finance the transportation of the Lowell men. The plan is to keep the men's expenses to Wichita and pay the cost of their expenses out of their first two weeks' pay. It is expected that within a few days the project will be pushed through.

Applies the club it may be stated that the quarters of the organization are being well patronized, particularly the dining room, where food is being served at cost. It is hoped that within a short time the management of the club will be authorized to make the affair a community one, in that food will be served at prevailing prices to men who have not been in the service. It is expected that the dedication of the club will take place in the early part of August.

CLASS OF FRENCH BOYS ARE HERE TO ATTEND SUMMER COLLEGE COURSE

MIDDLEBURY, Vt., July 7.—Through the co-operation of the French government, Prof. H. P. Prof. De Visme, who is a native of Middlebury and the head of a school near Paris, hopes to bring another class of French boys here next summer.

ELKS CONVENTION

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 7.—Thousands of members of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks were here for the opening of the victory convention of the grand lodge today. The part the order played in the war was described in the annual report of the war relief committee.

The committee now is devoting much money and energy in the cause of disabled soldiers, pending their assimilation into the government vocational system.

STRIKE AT WORCESTER

WORCESTER, July 7.—Twelve hundred employees of the Graton & Knight Mfg. Co., manufacturers of leather goods, struck today because the officials refuse to meet a commission from a new leather workers' union to discuss demands for a 50-hour week at the present pay for 48 hours and the same pay for women and men on the same kind of work. The officials announced they will treat with their own employees as individuals, but not with the union. They also announced that the plant, which is the largest factory in the world turning out leather belting, will be closed.

Strike at Ludlow

LUDLOW, July 7.—Two hundred men and women in the preparing room of the Ludlow Mfg. Associates struck today when their demands for 15 percent pay increase with Saturdays off were refused. The hands reported for work as usual but made an attempt to stop the machinery. When warned against this by the foreman they left the plant without disorder. Fear is expressed that the strike may spread to other departments.

SEVERAL KILLED Germans and Poles Clash in Silesia

Germans and Poles took part in the disorders.

FAMOUS AVIATOR KILLED IN FALL

BERNE, July 7.—Oscar Bider was killed today in a fall from a height of 3000 feet near Zurich. He was performing acrobatic stunts preparatory to a public exhibition.

Bider was one of the first aviators to fly across the Bernese Alps, making several trips in 1913. In the same year he flew across the Pyrenees from Pau, France, to Madrid.

WEATHER UNFAVORABLE FOR "HOP OFF"

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Weather conditions will be unfavorable for a return flight of the R-34 during the next 48 hours, according to a report forwarded to the airship at Mineola late today by the navy department. The report said threatening weather would remain over the sea and that head winds probably would be encountered as far east as Newfoundland.

BRIEF BUT IMPORTANT

WIRE DESPATCHES

PRAGUE, Saturday, July 5. (Havas).—The Czechoslovak cabinet, headed by Dr. Kramarz, has resigned. President Masaryk has asked the social democratic leader, Tusar, to form a new cabinet.

PORTLAND, Me., July 7.—Light airs, calms and heavy rains made the run of the Eastern Yacht club fleet from Gloucester an unusually long one and it was nearly noon before all the yachts had reported. Some of the races did not finish at Portland light-ship until long after sunrise.

NEW YORK, July 7.—Charles DuBois, controller of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., has been elected president of the Western Electric Co., succeeding H. D. Thayer, who was elected chairman of the board. Mr. Thayer resigned after 38 years' service to assume the presidency of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

NEW YORK, July 7.—News of the marriage in London of Lieut. Clifford McKelvey Carver, formerly Secretary to C. E. M. House and late Ambassador Cargill, and Miss Helen Philae Maxwell, daughter of General Sir John and Lady Maxwell, was received here today by friends of the bridegroom who is now in the United States navy.

NEW YORK, July 7.—President Wilson was asked to veto the bill repealing the daylight saving law in a wireless message sent to the George Washington today by the National Dry Goods association.

HAVANA, July 7.—Sergeants Santiago Aloman and Jose Diaz were killed today when their airplane fell in flames near Columbia barracks.

NEW YORK, July 7.—Radio messages today from the George Washington indicated that President Wilson probably would land at Hoboken about 1.30 p. m. tomorrow.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 7.—Harry New, held in jail here for the murder of his sweetheart, Miss Frieda Lester, last Saturday, was reported today to be in a highly nervous condition, and so despondent that a trusty was confined with him.

BOSTON, July 7.—The Bay State Fishing Co. today requested the state board of conciliation and arbitration to intervene in the strike of fishermen at this port, Gloucester and Provincetown.

BOSTON, July 7.—Daniel J. Daley, counsel for Mrs. Bessie M. Skeels Lundgren who was acquitted last Thursday of the murder of Miss Florence W. Gay of Andover today visited Gov. Runyon of New Jersey asking for a hearing in opposition to the extradition of Mrs. Lundgren to New Jersey to answer charges of having killed her brother, Albert J. Wilkins of Bayonne, by poison.

BOSTON, July 7.—Three bills were reported by the joint committee on street railways today in response to the suggestion in the governor's recent message, that something be done to assist these corporations in the state.

MINEOLA, N. Y., July 7.—Orders that all motion picture films showing the R-34 be censored by navy officials before they are exhibited anywhere were received this afternoon from Secretary Daniels. It is understood that censorship was decided upon in response to a request from British officials.

QUIET RESTORED IN ITALIAN CITIES

ROME, July 7 (Havas).—Quiet has been restored in Florence and several other cities where disorders have marked the food situation. Demonstrations against the high cost of living and against food profiteers, however, have occurred in Milan, Leghorn, Alessandria and Brescia.

The Italian socialist organizations have decided upon a general strike for July 20 and 21 as a protest against alleged intervention in Russia and Hungary.

WILLARD-DEMPEY PICTURES BARRED

COLUMBUS, O., July 7.—The Willard-Dempsey fight pictures may never be seen by the public.

In Ohio, at least, they will not be placed on exhibition. The Ohio board of censors today rejected the pictures as unfit to be exhibited in public.

The probability of the pictures being shown in other states is believed to depend upon the construction placed upon the Rosenberg act, which prohibits prize fight pictures being handled in interstate commerce.

If the fight is construed as a boxing bout and not as a prize fight, it is believed that the pictures may be shown in other states if approved by state censors.

Under the Ohio law the fight was considered to be a boxing match.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, July 7.—Steels led at the strong and active opening today, heavy buying orders having accumulated over the first hour with 200,000 shares made by Crucible, Bethlehem, Republic and U. S. Steel. Allied Industrials, equipments, rubber, tobacco and food shares also rose. Shipbuilding and metals narrowed, but the inquiry for rails was light.

Approximately 300,000 shares changed hands in the first hour with no appreciable slackening of the feverish pace at noon. Steels continued to feature the advance, but other speculative shares were not far behind, notably the motor, oil, tobacco and food groups.

Stute motors led the list, adding twenty points to last Thursday's gain of 11 points. Realizing out into some of the more important gains, and reliable securities shown by rails and several specialties, but the tone for the most part remained strong. Call money opened at 6 1/2-7.

An eight point reversal in Stute and one to two point reactions in Steels and Equipments measured the unsettled conditions at mid-day. Rails increased 10 points, reaching 35 1/2. Southern Pacific, the million share mark was far exceeded at one o'clock.

Low priced rails were at their best here, the major selling was in the elsewhere on call money's rise to 12 and 15 per cent. The closing was irregular.

Local Dealers Not To Sell 2 1/4 Per Cent—Liquor Men Employ Counsel

A difference of opinion between the city solicitor of this city, William D. Regan, and the legal authorities of various other cities in the state as to the legal right of licensing boards to grant to liquor dealers, second, third or fifth class licenses and later, upon surrender of these when the wartime prohibition ban is lifted, to grant first and fourth class licenses to the same dealers, has resulted in the Lowell Liquor Dealers' association resorting to counsel outside of Lowell in an effort to determine just what action they may take with comparative safety toward the re-opening of their places of business for the sale of 2 1/4 per cent beer.

According to Anthony A. Conway, president of the Lowell Liquor Dealers' association, the city solicitors of Chicago, Holyoke and Taunton have ruled that second class licenses may be granted now and later surrendered for first class licenses. Mr. Conway also cites the Boston licensing board which has stated that any class of license desired by the dealers in the city would be issued and the matter of sales left to the dealers themselves.

The statement that there was a possibility of local dealers selling 2 1/4 per cent beer before the close of the present week is denied both by the Liquor Dealers' association and the local license commission. Before any license

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS, July 7.—The proposed Austrian peace treaty will be ready for presentation to the Austrian delegation on Tuesday. The full text of the document is now in the hands of the printer.

Ten days or two weeks are expected to be given the Austrian delegation to study the new articles on financial, economic and reparations questions, and also certain boundary terms which were not covered in the first draft given them.

The peace commissioners remaining to carry on the work of the conference took the day off yesterday, many attending the last day of the inter-allied games at Pershing Stadium, and the others going to Saint Cloud race track to see the running of the president of the republic stables. The council of five will continue today work on the agenda agreed upon. The Hungarian questions, the opening of the Danube and similar matters, will, however, be put over until the military experts report a feasible plan for dealing with the situation in case Bela Kun, the Hungarian communist foreign minister, remains obstinate and refuses to give right of way for relief supplies.

WILL NOT MAKE PEACE WITH KUN

PARIS, Saturday, July 7.—The council of five reached the conclusion at a meeting this afternoon that it is impossible to make peace with Bela Kun's government in Hungary, according to the Havas agency. Maintenance of the blockade, it was said, still is necessary, although its effects have not been felt by the Hungarian revolutionary government, as it is appropriating foodstuffs for itself and its friends.

LOWELL ELKS GO TO ATLANTIC CITY

Daniel Clark, Fred H. Rourke, Fred Gilmore and John Sweet will represent Lowell lodge of Elks at the Grand Lodge session of Elks at Atlantic City, which opens today.

It is the peace and victory convention of the order. Business sessions and election of officers will occupy part of the week, but the most picturesque feature will be a parade on Thursday in which all the thousands of delegates from every part of the country will march, bearing their lodge flags and displaying whatever their ingenuity suggests in the way of unique presentations.

There is a strenuous campaign for the post of grand exalted ruler. Support of the entire New England delegation is claimed by Albert T. Brophy of Brooklyn, independent candidate for the head of the order. His claims are disputed, however, by Frank L. Rain of Nebraska, who is backed by men high in Elk councils. Boston is being sought by Chicago to throw its vote toward having the 1920 convention in Chicago. Los Angeles, New Orleans and Atlantic City also are in the field.

FRENCH OFFICER REGRETS

FUME INCIDENT

ROME, Sunday, July 6.—Gen. Savi, commander of the French troops at Fiume, says in an interview with the Giornale D'Italia, that the action of some of his soldiers who recently offended Italians in that city by cheering for Jugo Slavia, was "most deplorable." He points out, however, that it would be a "mistake to generalize and make the fault of a few that of the whole French contingent."

He says he did his best to be neutral in the question of Fiume, especially as he has in his command some Serbian troops, but he adds that he understands the position of the Italians and that if he were in their place he would have acted likewise.

Expressing his regret for the incident, he says:

"I am sorry there should be any feeling between two peoples who have fraternalized at the front against the common enemy. Italy ought to be compensated for her sacrifices, and when Fiume is assigned to Italy, I shall be the first to rejoice from the bottom of my heart."

Case Against American Writer Is Dropped

COBLENZ, Sunday, July 6.—(By the Associated Press) Robert Minor, the American newspaper correspondent and cartoonist, who has been under detention here by army authorities pending an investigation, has been released. Officers said the case had been dropped on orders from higher authorities. It is understood he will be returned to Paris, where he was arrested a month ago by the French at the request of the British. The latter refused to prosecute him, turning over evidence to the American authorities of a conspiracy to spread radical propaganda among soldiers within the British and American army.

"For this reason the next few hours were one of the most anxious periods during the flight for Maj. Scott, the captain of the ship, who, owing to the large amount of petrol carried (4900 gallons weighing 15.8 tons) has to keep the ship as low as possible and at the same time pass over northern Scotland, where the hills rise to a height of over 3000 feet.

"Owing to the stormy nature of the morning, the air at 1500 feet—the height at which the ship was traveling—was most disturbed and bumpy, due to the wind being broken up by the mountains to the north causing violent wind currents, and air pockets.

"The most disturbed conditions were met in the mouth of the Clyde, south of Loch Lomond, which surrounded by high mountains, looked particularly beautiful in the gray dawn light.

"The islands at the mouth of the Firth of Clyde were quickly passed. The north coast of Ireland appeared for a time and shortly afterward faded away as we headed out into the Atlantic."

The ship plunged at the outset into fog, the fog recording it at 7 o'clock as down to within 50 feet of the water and up to a height of about 5000 feet. The ship had a slight drift to the south. A few minutes later they found themselves between two layers of clouds. The log describes the sleeping arrangements, saying "they consist of a hammock for each of the men of watch suspended from the main ridge girder of the triangular internal keel which runs from end to end of the ship. In this keel are situated the 51 petrol tanks, each of 71 gallons capacity; also the living quarters for officers and men and stowing arrangements for lubricating oil for the engines, water ballast, food and drinking water for the crew."

"Life in the keel of a large rigid airship is by no means unpleasant. There is very little noise or vibration except when one is directly over the power unit—a total absence of wind, and except in the early hours of dawn, greater warmth than in the surrounding atmosphere.

"Getting into one's hammock is rather an acrobatic feat, especially if it is long high, but this becomes easy with practice, preventing one's self from falling out is a thing one must be careful about in a service airship like the R-31. There is only a thin outer cover of fabric on the underside of the keel on each side of the walking way and the luckless individual who tumbles out of his hammock would

STOWAWAY ON

BIG DIRIGIBLE

MUNEOA, N. Y., July 7.—If the British dirigible carried a "brig," this "brig" probably would have been occupied on the airship's voyage across the Atlantic, for six hours after he had left East Fortune, Maj. Scott, commander of the craft discovered he had aboard a real stowaway.

"His name is W. W. Ballantine and he lives in Cromwell, Eng., said Maj. Scott in making known that airships are just as attractive to stowaways as regular ocean liners.

"At one time he was a member of our crew, but when we completed arrangements for this trip it was decided not to take him on board for various reasons which I do not wish to disclose at this time.

"When he was discovered, of course we could not drop him off, so we put him to work and he did his share of the work on the voyage. He will not make the return trip but will be left here. In the near future he will be formally court-martialed but I do not think he will be subjected to any severe punishment."

Ballantine says he does not care what becomes of him now that he has made the voyage.
